British Smash Axis Armies Into 4 Parts In Desert War

[By the Associated Press]

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 24—British forces smashing westward along the Libyan Mediterranean coast have captured the important Axis supply center of Gambut, approximately half way to the besieged British garrison at Tobruk, the British Middle East command announced today.

This success announced on the tenth day of the invasion of Libya, followed hard upon capture of Bardia, a move by which the British reached the Mediterranean to trap strong forces under General Erwin Rommel, encamped along the Egyptian-Libyan border. An unofficial report said 1,000 Axis prisoners were taken up yesterday.

Cut Into 4 Parts

The British said that altogether the Axis armies had been battered into four separate isolated groups, with the British forces closing in to annihilate them.

The main battle—pictured as a great clash of the world's most modern tanks and mechanized equipment, with American-made machines playing a major role—was fought in the vicinity of Sidi Barrani, 10 miles southeast of Tobruk.

"This battle," said the British communiqué today, "which has been fought and is being fought with utmost resolution by both sides, has been in progress without cessation for 48 hours."

Pressed From Rear

The Axis troops trapped along the Egyptian-Libyan border, in the al-Bayda-Sidi Omar area, were being pressed from the rear by Indian troops, the communiqué said.

The British forces which broke through from Tobruk last week were now fighting to consolidate their positions after capturing "among other things" a number of enemy field guns.

Gambut was taken by New Zealand forces, as was Bardia. Gambut is on the main coastal highway approximately 35 miles beyond Tobruk and about 40 miles short of Bardia.

Tobruk, it lies about five miles west of Sidi Omar. Gambut, picture of which was announced yesterday.

The British declared their tanks are outfitteding the Axis' armored forces on the wind-swept sands, at their planes held mastery of the skies and that their fleet, almost unopposed, was pounding the Axis' fortifications and sinking its supply ships.

4 Accomplishments

At the end of the first week since the lightning onset of Britain's offensive last Tuesday dawn, they claimed these achievements:

1. Four Axis forces—largely German now, with the Italians virtually knocked out—have been penned inside strong traps of British tanks.

2. The strongholds of Bardia, Sidi Azeiz and Sidi Omar Nuovo, as well as Fort Capuzzo, have been captured.

3. At sea, two Axis cruisers, a destroyer and several supply ships, were listed as torpedoed by submarine and air attack in the Mediterranean.

4. In the air, 100 German and Italian planes were said to have been destroyed, and the Axis was declared to have made no effective challenge so far to large British air forces striking far and wide in the desert.

Britain's own tank losses admittedly have been heavy but Axis losses have been placed as high as three-to-one. According to one source, the British have knocked 1,600 tanks.

Officials, however, declared no precise figures could be tallied for losses on either side. They compared a struggle to a sea battle, with a land fleet on both sides free to land, break off and fight again away from a decision across the vast wastelands.

Conflicting Claims

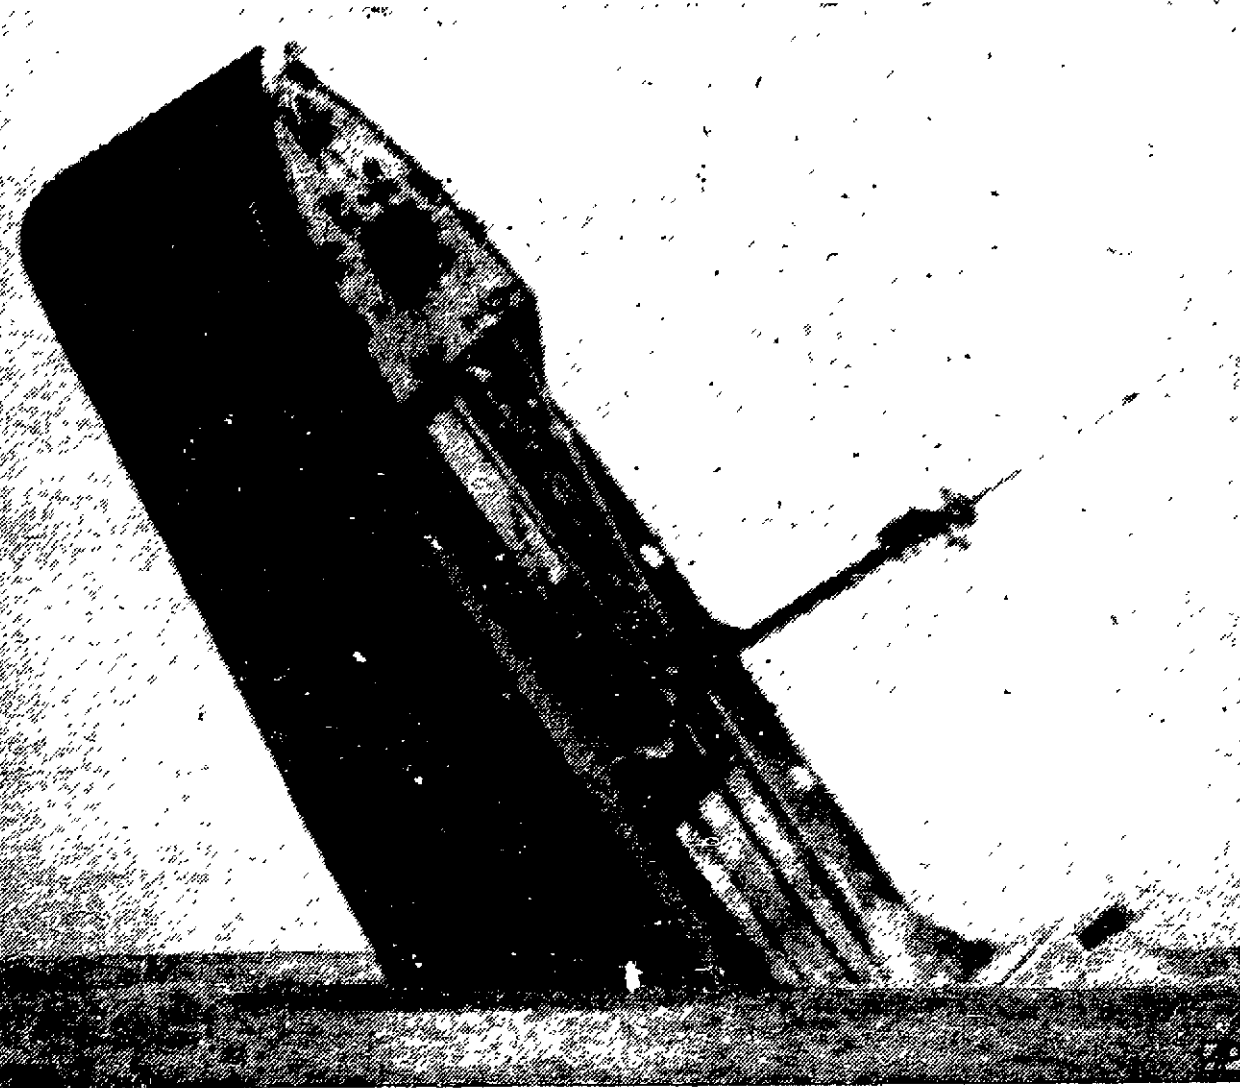

(The German High Command said yesterday the British had lost 260 tanks and 200 armored cars through Tuesday. The Italians claimed British losses at about 550 tanks and cars. They added a warship of untested size and submarine to Italy's reported losses.)

The heaviest fighting was said to be continuing in the desert.

Dainty Hands Growing Callouses For Defense

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—Dainty feminine hands by the thousands are growing callouses in Pennsylvania these days in the interest of national defense.

Defense preparations have put women in every job imaginable from ditch-digging to handling explosives and there's no telling how far they'll go before the emergency ends.

"The defense program has so broadened the field of occupation for them that we have placed 90,000 in jobs this year—more than ever before—compared to 135,000 men," reports state employment director H. Raymond Mason.

"They've filled all kinds of gaps caused by men being drafted and workers taken for defense. While there's been no great movement of them into industry itself this un-

At the end of the week the state's direct relief load stood at a new record low of 74,378 cases containing 136,826 persons—a drop of approximately 250,000 persons or 65 per cent from the level of one year ago.

Records of the Adams county board of public assistance show that 10 new applications for general assistance were received during the week ending November 15 when 99 cases including 162 persons were receiving regular payments. The net expenditures for relief grants during the week in this county were $390.72.

ACCEPTS U. S. POSITION

COURT NAMES NEW DIRECTOR

Claude Kipe of Liberty township was appointed by the Adams county court on Saturday to fill the unexpired term of the late Samuel Warren on the township board of school directors.

The appointment was made by the court in response to a petition signed by 12 taxpayers of the township. William Richardson, Mont Alto, was sent to jail for violation of a court parole order. Court records show he failed to pay costs in an old case and was arrested on a court process.

A settlement agreement was filed in court by Clair Dennis, Gardner, bringing to a close a case against him involving a serious charge.

Court adjourned at 2:10 p. m. Saturday until 10 a. m. on the morning of December 15. Among the items of business to be transacted on that day will be the sentencing of several defendants deferred on Saturday.

ONE IS INJURED, $800 DAMAGES IN FOUR ACCIDENTS

One person was injured, not seriously, and damage totaling more than $800 was caused in four weekend accidents investigated by state motor police from the Gettysburg substation. One driver was arrested.

This morning about 4:30 o'clock a truck and trailer loaded with clothing and operated by Carroll Martin, Baltimore, ran off the Lincoln Highway a mile west of McKnightstown. The truck broke off two telephone poles before coming to a stop 388 feet from the point it veered off the road, said police. The driver was unhurt but damage was placed at about $300. Private James A. Rose investigated.

Mule Is Destroyed

A $115 mule owned by L. D. Little, Hanover, was injured so badly it had to be destroyed when it was struck about 6:20 o'clock Saturday evening on the Abbottstown-Hanover road, a mile south of Abbottstown, by a car said to have been operated by Paul McMaster, 25, Abbottstown R. 1.

McMaster told Private R. L. Dunham that two mules ran across the highway in front of his car. He braked and swerved his machine in an effort to avoid a collision. The car hit one of the mules throwing it across the hood of the car. The animal slid to the roadway with two legs broken. Damage to the car was estimated at about $15.

McMaster told Private R. L. Dunham that two mules ran across the highway in front of his car. He braked and swerved his machine in an effort to avoid a collision. The car hit one of the mules throwing it across the hood of the car. The animal slid to the roadway with two legs broken. Damage to the car was estimated at about $15.

Maurice Smith, Jr., Baltimore, paid a $10 fine and the costs before Justice of the Peace L. G. Kuhn, Midway, Saturday evening on a charge of failing to yield the right of way following an investigation by Private J. A. Tappe of an auto accident at the western edge of Midway about 5:30 o'clock on the road leading from Hanover to Gettysburg.

Private R. L. Dunham investigated. Lawrence was treated at the Warner hospital for lacerations of the forehead and nose. No charges were brought. Total damage was placed at about $200.

Canada Sends 5th Division Across Ocean

A British Port, Nov. 24 (AP)—The 5th Canadian (armored) division has landed safely in Britain in the largest troop convoy ever to reach Britain, it was announced today.

It took several days to disembark the contingent, so large was it. Thousands upon thousands of Canadians in battle kit poured ashore and into trains which took them to training camps in the south of England.

The British and Canadian navies and warplanes from both Canada and Britain helped to protect the vessels in their ocean crossing. The division, which arrived a month ago, is commanded by Maj. Gen. E. W. Samson.

There also has arrived the largest group of Canadian-trained airmen to come here since the start of the war. The men are from Canada, Australia and New Zealand. This group was so large that it formed the complete list of a big peacetime passenger liner.

This was the first time in the war that a troop transport had consisted of airmen alone.

Food Show Will Be On Wednesday

Because of the conflict with the regularly scheduled Bible School sessions in several churches the previously announced food show at the Majestic theatre scheduled for four o'clock Tuesday afternoon has been postponed to the same hour Wednesday afternoon.

This announcement was made today by Sydney Poppa, manager of the theatre. "We have just been informed that Bible School sessions are held Tuesday afternoon. We do not want to conflict with those sessions. Our food show will be held Wednesday," Mr. Poppa announced.

All children will be admitted with any article of food preferably canned goods. Members of the Lions club will distribute the food to needy families Wednesday evening. "Light of the Western Stars" a cartoon and a comedy will comprise the show.

2 Local Couples Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

William E. Olinger, former Burgess of Gettysburg, clerk of the county courts and county auditor, and Mrs. Olinger observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Saturday at their home, 137 South Washington street.

They were married November 22, 1891, in the parsonage of the Luthertown Reformed church by the late Rev. Francis Lindaman. Mrs. Olinger formerly was Miss Rosa A. Miller and is a daughter of the late John and Agnes Miller.

After their marriage they lived for six years in Mt. Joy township where Mr. Olinger was engaged in teaching school. Later they moved to Mt. Pleasant township where Mr. Olinger also taught. Mr. Olinger later was elected as a member of the board of county auditors. They returned to Mt. Joy township for another six-year period and it was while they resided there that Mr. Olinger was elected clerk of the courts and served from 1912 to 1916. When he occupied the court house office Mr. and Mrs. Olinger moved to Gettysburg and have resided here since that time.

Mr. Olinger served a four-year term as Burgess of Gettysburg and after his own term of office as clerk of the courts he served later as a deputy clerk.

Mr. Olinger is 77 years old. Mrs. Olinger passed her sixty-ninth birthday in September.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rider, Steinwehr avenue, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday at their home at which time a number of relatives and guests gathered for the occasion.

The couple was married November 24, 1891, in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. W. F. Boyle.

Among those visiting the Rider home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Maryland Appier, Hanover, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shanbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kuhn, William Rider, Mrs. Lampert, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Shaefer, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leppo.

Grandchildren present were Fred Appier, Mary Louise Kuhn, Sarah Appier, Jean Kuhn, Leon Kuhn, Junior Shanbrook, and Elmer Appier. The great-grandchildren attending were Kenneth Shaefer and Shirley Miller.

"We knew their speed and mobility were unsurpassed," he said, "but they also have shown their fire-power and armor plate resistance. There is no question that, from now on, these tanks are standard equipment of the British army."

Several American observers are with the tanks as crew members to observe first-hand how they handle in action.

The vehicles in use are the M-3 mod-1—classified by the War department as a light tank, but heavy enough to be used here as a cruiser. They are in the hands of some of the best British armored fighting units, part of them converted from Hussar regiments. They were given the hardest job of the first phase of the show.

While other mechanized forces cut straight across to the battle area southwest of British-held Tobruk Tuesday, they headed north to engage a German armored division in the Bardia region.

In two battles, Thursday, British observers said, 100 German tanks were knocked out against a loss of 60 American-made machines.

Moreover, the British remained in possession of the ground as the remnants of the German division scooted westward to join the second German armored division near Tobruk.

All the disabled tanks became British property and mechanics put some of them back in service after a few hours of work. Rough-riding British Hussar regiments called their 12-ton American tanks "honeyes" and said these light, high speed fighting machines were getting the better of the Germans' bigger, but slower, 18-ton tanks.

540 STOLEN

State motor police here began this afternoon the investigation of the theft of about $40 from a glass bank at the home of Paul Plank, Littlestown road. The money disappeared between October 18 and Sunday of this week, the officers were told. The bank was kept in an unlocked safe at the Plank home.

Seek $1,800 From Sale Of Xmas Seals In This County

Emphasizing the link between national health and national defense, the Adams County Tuberculosis society today launched its annual Christmas seal campaign by mailing letters containing sheets of seals to about 6,000 counties and county organizations.

Last year the seal sale in Adams county netted about $1,200 but the goal for the current drive is $1,800. The need for more funds is due to the greater demands being made upon the county society. It was explained today by its president, Edgar K. Markley, Esq., over whose signature the letters went out.

600,000 Seals for Sale
The society's mailing list was expanded by about 20 per cent since the 1940 drive, it was explained. More than 600,000 are being distributed in sheets of 100 at $1 per sheet.

The society president explains in the circular letter that the money to be secured from the sale of the Christmas seals will help provide tuberculosis tests and other X-ray examinations for school children and indigent cases. Make home visits arrange for care at state clinics and sanatoria arrange for national program supply stock.

The executive board of the county society includes: J. Y. Baker, W. A. Kenney, I. C. Kenney, Ralph Z. Ocker, the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Mrs. McMillan, all of Gettysburg; Maudie Wierman Kennedy, York Springs; Mrs. Richard Livingston, New Oxford; Mrs. Lloyd Knechtler, Badersville; Ernest D. Bushman, Ardenville; and Mrs. I. M. Henderson, Fairfield.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD TO MEET PARK DIRECTOR

Mares Sherman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, issued the last call for attendance at the luncheon-meeting to be held Tuesday noon at the Hotel Gettysburg, at the request of Congressman Harry L. Haines to afford the Director of the National Park Service of the United States, Newton B. Drury, an opportunity to confer with Gettysburgians in regard to the Gettysburg National Military Park.

A splendid response is being made to his appeal to turn out a capacity crowd at the luncheon. President Sherman reports. He asked everyone who plans to attend to phone the hotel so that the proper table arrangements can be made.

The Chamber of Commerce leader spent the week-end contacting the presidents of various civic, service, patriotic and veteran organizations and was assured of a good delegation from each group. The Battle-field guides are being personally canvassed by their president, Walter Reynolds, and it is expected that a large group will be present.

Asks for Guides

In his letter Congressman Haines specifically asked that the guides be represented.

Officers of the Rotary, Lions and Soroptimists will urge attendance of their members tonight when the clubs meet together to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the Soroptimists.

President Henry W. A. Hanson, of Gettysburg college, has assured Mr. Sherman of the college's interest in Mr. Drury's visit. Dr. Hanson and a number of the college faculty will be present at the luncheon.

President Edmund W. Thomas, of the First National bank, and President C. A. Wills, of the Gettysburg National bank, have reported that representatives will be on hand from their institutions.

Limited to 200

David A. Tawney, commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, will head a delegation of eight from his organization. Postmaster C. A. Williams says that there will be six or seven from the post office staff.

"Obviously, our interest in our greatest civic and business asset will be measured by our attendance at this meeting," President Sherman said, "that's why we want it to be capacity."

The number is limited to 200, the comfortable capacity of the main dining room of the hotel.

Cyrus Wolf Will Placed On File

The will of the late Cyrus Wolf of Abbotstown was placed on record at the court house Saturday disposing of an estate estimated to be worth $4,800 in real estate and personal property. A son, Clarence R. Wolf, Abbotstown R. 1, and Belle Wolf Flickinger, Hanover, who is a daughter, are the executors.

The administration bond has been filed in the estate of Myrtle Bream Weigle, late of Conego township. Her husband, Frank Weigle, York, is the administrator.

Early Separation Brings Divorce Suit

A marriage which was followed by a separation a week later reached the divorce courts today with the filing of a libel in divorce by Richard A. Brown, Esq., counsel for James F. G. Sheffer, Latimore township, against Mary M. Sheffer. The libel states the couple was married March 23 1940, and separated seven days later. The divorce decree is being sought on grounds of desertion.

A subpoena has been issued and is returnable January 26. Papers in the case are on file in the office of Prothonotary Lee M. Hartman.

PAYS SPEEDING FINE

Max Friedman, Brooklyn, New York, paid a $10 speeding fine and the costs on Saturday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. A state motor policeman charged the driver with speeding at 65 miles an hour.

Canada Sends 5th Division Across Ocean

A British Port, Nov. 24 (AP)—The 5th Canadian (armored) division has landed safely in Britain in the largest troop convoy ever to reach Britain, it was announced today.

It took several days to disembark the contingent, so large was it. Thousands upon thousands of Canadians in battle kit poured ashore and into trains which took them to training camps in the south of England.

The British and Canadian navies and warplanes from both Canada and Britain helped to protect the vessels in their ocean crossing. The division, which arrived a month ago, is commanded by Maj. Gen. E. W. Samson.

There also has arrived the largest group of Canadian-trained airmen to come here since the start of the war. The men are from Canada, Australia and New Zealand. This group was so large that it formed the complete list of a big peacetime passenger liner.

This was the first time in the war that a troop transport had consisted of airmen alone.

Seek $1,800 From Sale Of Xmas Seals In This County

Emphasizing the link between national health and national defense, the Adams County Tuberculosis society today launched its annual Christmas seal campaign by mailing letters containing sheets of seals to about 6,000 countians and county organizations.

Last year the seal sale in Adams county netted about $1,200 but the goal for the current drive is $1,800. The need for more funds is due to the greater demands being made upon the county society, it was explained today by its president, Edgar K. Markley, Esq., over whose signature the letters went out.

The society's mailing list was expanded by about 50 per cent since the 1940 drive, it was explained. More than 600,000 are being distributed in sheets of 100 at $1 per sheet.

The society president explains in the circular letter that the money to be secured from the sale of the Christmas seals will help provide tuberculosis tests and chest X-ray examinations for school children and indigent cases, make home visits, arrange for care at state clinics and sanatoria, arrange educational programs, supply schools

Mares Sherman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, issued the last call for attendance at the luncheon-meeting to be held Tuesday noon at the Hotel Gettysburg, at the request of Congressman Harry L. Haines to afford the Director of the National Park Service of the United States, Newton B. Drury, an opportunity to confer with Gettysburgians in regard to the Gettysburg National Military Park.

A splendid response is being made to his appeal to turn out a capacity crowd at the luncheon, President Sherman reports. He asked everyone who plans to attend to phone the hotel so that the proper table arrangements can be made.

The Chamber of Commerce leader spent the week-end contacting the presidents of various civic, service, patriotic and veteran organizations and was assured of a good delegation from each group. The Battle-field guides are being personally canvassed by their president, Walter Reynolds, and it is expected that a large group will be present.

Asks for Guides
In his letter Congressman Haines specifically asked that the guides be represented.

Officers of the Rotary, Lions and Soroptimists will urge attendance of their members tonight when the clubs meet together to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the Soroptimists.

President Henry W. A. Hanson, of Gettysburg college, has assured Mr. Sherman of the college's interest in Mr. Drury's visit. Dr. Hanson and a number of the college faculty will be present at the luncheon.

President Edmund W. Thomas, of the First National bank, and President C. A. Wills, of the Gettysburg National bank, have reported that representatives will be on hand from their institutions.

Limited to 200

David A. Tawney, commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, will head a delegation of eight from his organization. Postmaster C. A. Williams says that there will be six or seven from the post office staff.

"Obviously, our interest in our greatest civic and business asset will be measured by our attendance at this meeting," President Sherman said, "that's why we want it to be capacity."

The number is limited to 200, the comfortable capacity of the main dining room of the hotel.

URGES SPECIAL SESSION TO CUT TAXES OF STATE

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—Governor James withheld comment today on a Democratic demand for an immediate special session of the legislature to cut Pennsylvania's taxes $100,000,000 and reduce its congressional delegation from 34 to 33.

The executive said he had not had sufficient time to study the demands made in an open letter from Rep. Leo A. Achtermann, of Monroe county, Democratic floor leader.

Achtermann asserted the Commonwealth's income in the first five months of the 1941-42 biennium, which began last June 1, exceeded budget estimates by $19,000,000. At this rate, he added, by the end of the biennium the state "will have a surplus of at least $100,000,000—more likely $150,000,000."

5 Congressional Plans
The seven-month-old session deadlocked on cutting the delegation to Congress as required by the 1940 census and turned the task over to a special committee which submitted five plans in a mail poll of representatives and senators.

The Governor repeatedly said he would call a special session for reappointment only if an agreement was reached beforehand. He added last week enough subjects had been suggested to keep such a session in the Capitol all summer but that, barring emergency matters—it would be confined to reappointment.

"I am amazed at your newspaper statement that you know of no reason other than congressional reappointment for calling a special session of the legislature," Achtermann wrote.

"The reduction of state taxes is reason enough for a special session, especially since taxes can be reduced in Pennsylvania by at least $100,000,000."

Urges Tax Cut
The Democratic leader asserted he had gone over revenue records carefully, and added:

"Therefore, I now ask that you call an immediate special session—one of the specific purposes of which will be the reduction of taxes; that you approach the problem of tax reduction by eliminating those taxes which were intended only for the emergency caused by relief requirements. That emergency is done and the taxes made necessary by it should go with that emergency."

The emergency taxes—first imposed in 1936—were re-enacted for another two years by the last legislature.

Achtermann suggested reducing the corporate net income tax from seven to five per cent and eliminating these levies:

1. The 4-mill state personal property tax.
2. The corporate loans tax.
3. The tax on bank and trust company shares.
4. The special 10 per cent liquor tax.

SEVEN NATIONS TO JOIN NAZIS IN NEW SETUP

Berlin, Nov. 24 (AP)—Authorized Germans announced today that seven more governments would join the six present signers of the anti-Comintern pact tomorrow.

The seven new signers are to be Finland, Denmark, Bulgaria, Croatia, Rumania, Slovakia and the Japanese-sponsored Nanking government. Germany, Japan, Italy, Spain, Hungary and Manchukuo are to renew their signatures at a ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the pact.

Finland, Denmark, Bulgaria and Croatia are to be represented by their foreign ministers, the announcement said, Rumania by Vice Premier Mihail Antonescu, Slovakia by Premier Dr. Joseph Tiso and Nanking "in a special manner."

Fight Bolshevism
Besides the desire of Italy and Germany to form a European bloc against what their statesmen call Pan-Slavic dreams of westward Russian expansion, observers read into the announcement that the ceremony is connected with the fight against "world Bolshevism."

Although German efforts to bring France and Turkey into the alignment have been increasingly apparent it remained anybody's guess whether either country would be represented tomorrow.

Italy's delegation headed by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, was the first to reach Berlin and got an impressive welcome at the flag-draped station from Foreign Minister Joachim Ribbentrop, Finance Minister Walther Funk and Italian Ambassador Dino Alfieri.

8 Countries Outside
The continental anti-Comintern line-up as it will stand after the adherence of the seven new nations tomorrow will leave just Turkey, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Greece, France, Belgium and the Netherlands outside the fold.

French adherence, Germans said, was impractical until relations between Vichy and the Axis powers had been definitely settled by a final peace agreement replacing the armistice.

None Declines
Asked whether any nation had declined an invitation to be present, an authorized source replied: "German diplomacy is such that it never received a refusal."

Persistent reports of another impending meeting, at which Adolf Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Marshal Petain would sit down at the conference table, remained unconfirmed here.

URGES SPECIAL SESSION TO CUT TAXES OF STATE

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—Governor James withheld comment today on a Democratic demand for an immediate special session of the legislature to cut Pennsylvania's taxes $100,000,000 and reduce its congressional delegation from 34 to 33.

The executive said he had not had sufficient time to study the demands made in an open letter from Rep. Leo A. Achterman, of Monroe county, Democratic floor leader.

Achterman asserted the Commonwealth's income in the first five months of the 1941-43 biennium, which began last June 1, exceeded budget estimates by $19,000,000. At this rate, he added, by the end of the biennium the state "will have a surplus of at least $100,000,000—more likely $150,000,000."

5 Congressional Plans
The seven-month-old session deadlocked on cutting the delegation to Congress as required by the 1940 census and turned the task over to a special committee which submitted five plans in a mail poll of representatives and senators.

The Governor repeatedly said he would call a special session for reappointment only if an agreement was reached beforehand. He added last week enough subjects had been suggested to keep such a session in the capitol all summer but that—barring emergency matters—it would be confined to reappointment.

"I am amazed at your newspaper statement that you know of no reason other than congressional reappointment for calling a special session of the legislature," Achterman wrote.

"The reduction of state taxes is reason enough for a special session, especially since taxes can be reduced in Pennsylvania by at least $103,000,000."

Urges Tax Cut

The Democratic leader asserted he had gone over revenue records carefully, and added:

"Therefore, I now ask that you call an immediate special session—one of the specific purposes of which will be the reduction of taxes; that you approach the problem of tax reduction by eliminating those taxes which were intended only for the emergency caused by relief requirements. That emergency is done and the taxes made necessary by it should go with that emergency."

The emergency taxes—first imposed in 1936—were re-enacted for another two years by the last legislature.

Achterman suggested reducing the corporate net income tax from seven to five per cent and eliminating these levies:

1. The 4-mill state personal property tax.
2. The corporate loans tax.
3. The tax on bank and trust company shares.
4. The special 10 per cent liquor tax.

SEVEN NATIONS TO JOIN NAZIS IN NEW SETUP

Berlin, Nov. 24 (AP)—Authorized Germans announced today that seven more governments would join the six present signers of the anti-Comintern pact tomorrow.

The seven new signers are to be Finland, Denmark, Bulgaria, Croatia, Rumania, Slovakia and the Japanese-sponsored Nanking government. Germany, Japan, Italy, Spain, Hungary and Manchukuo are to renew their signatures at a ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the pact.

Finland, Denmark, Bulgaria and Croatia are to be represented by their foreign ministers, the announcement said. Rumania by Vice Premier Mihail Antonescu, Slovakia by Premier Dr. Joseph Tiso and Nanking "in a special manner."

Fight Bolshevism

Besides the desire of Italy and Germany to form a European bloc against what their statesmen call Pan-Slavic dreams of westward Russian expansion, observers read into the announcement that the ceremony is connected with the fight against "world Bolshevism" a reference to Britain and the United States whom Germany considers sponsors of world Bolshevism.

Although German efforts to bring France and Turkey into the alignment have been increasingly apparent it remained anybody's guess whether either country would be represented tomorrow.

Italy's delegation headed by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, was the first to reach Berlin and got an impressive welcome at the flag-draped station from Foreign Minister Joachim Ribbentrop, Finance Minister Walther Funk and Italian Ambassador Dino Alfieri.

8 Countries Outside

The continental anti-Comintern line-up as it will stand after the adherence of the seven new nations tomorrow will leave just Turkey, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Greece, France, Belgium and the Netherlands outside the fold.

French adherence, Germans said, was impractical until relations between Vichy and the Axis powers had been definitely settled by a final peace agreement replacing the armistice.

None Declines

Asked whether any nation had declined an invitation to be present, an authorized source replied: "German diplomacy is such that it never received a refusal."

Persistent reports of another impending meeting, at which Adolf Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Marshal Petain would sit down at the conference table, remained unconfirmed here.

Gettysburg college came from behind to tally four touchdowns in the last half to upset Dickinson in their annual game at Carlisle Saturday afternoon, 14-6.

The Red Devils gave a surprising performance for more than half of the game and through the efforts of their ace passer, Doug Rehor, held at 17-6 advantage as late as midway in the third period.

Coach "Hen" Bream's lads were a sadly disorganized outfit in the second period when Dickinson tallied a pair of touchdowns via the right arm of Rehor and at half time held a 14-6 lead.

Early in the third period Jay Overcash booted a pretty placement from the 15-yard stripe to hike the Red Devils' margin to 17-6.

Mid-Atlantic Loop To Operate In 1942

Zanesville, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—Representatives of the eight clubs in the Mid-Atlantic Baseball League this year announced they expect to continue in the circuit in 1942.

The club officials, participating in the league directors' annual meeting, represented Zanesville, Dayton, Springfield, Canton, Akron and Youngstown, Ohio, Erie Pa., and Charleston, West Virginia.

A definite decision, however, must await a meeting of the club's major league sponsors next month.

President Elmer Daily said that the circuit would remain in class C, for a change to B would cost each club $2,000 to $3,000 more a season.

NEW SECTIONAL LINEUP LIKELY IN SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, Nov. 24 (AP)—Indications point to a brand new sectional lineup in the Sugar bowl this year with the selections likely to be made before the Rose bowl opponents can be named.

Each of the past seven games has featured a team from the South-eastern or Southwest conference or both. Neither may be represented this time for their outstanding contenders still have crucial games to play.

President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans mid-winter sports association, denying reports that contestants already have been signed, said today "we may be in a position to announce the teams this week—but we may not."

There has been a swing toward unbeaten and untied Duquesne the past week on the part of the local press and public.

Still-glimmering hopes of landing undefeated Notre Dame took a blow yesterday when the school's athletic authorities repeated their declaration that the unbeaten Irish would play in no Rose bowl game.

Another possibility that the mid-west will be represented for the first time lies in Missouri, whose players closed their season with only one narrow defeat on the books, and voted to accept a bowl bid if it should come.

Duke's all-winning Blue Devils and Fordham's once-beaten Rams are still among leading possibilities.

GRID RACES TO BE SETTLED ON THANKSGIVING

By GEORGE A. SCOTT
Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—New leaders head three of the state's major high school football conferences today, but the margins of two are so small that they faced the possibility of being ousted from first place in Thursday's holiday wind-ups.

The closest races are in the western Pennsylvania and Wyoming Valley conferences.

Lock Haven, picking up 10 points through a 32-6 victory for Lewisville, a team it defeated earlier in the season, over Ferndale, forged five points ahead of Tyrone in the western race. Both teams stand to profit from Thanksgiving Day games played by their beaten opponents but Tyrone can collect 20 points to 10 for Lock Haven, a margin that would give it the lead. Unofficial standings of the two leaders:

Duquesne And Duke Await Bids To Bowl Games; West Coast Team Not Selected

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Nov. 24 (AP)—Except for the Army-Navy clash at Philadelphia Saturday and some widely spaced games here and there not much is left of the football season except allocating the various teams to the equally various bowls.

Of the four unbeaten powers, Minnesota isn't interested in a bowl invitation because of a Big Ten ruling. Except for that the Gophers, who haven't lost since late in 1939, probably could designate their own January 1 dwelling place.

Texas A and M still has two major opponents to play although it clinched the Southwest conference flag Saturday when Texas Christian was tied by Rice, 0 to 0. Thursday, the Texas Turkey Day, the Aggies seek to avenge the 7 to 0 upset the University of Texas hung on them another traditional squabble and Boston college meets Holy Cross.

Bowl Rumors Thick

Lehigh was in the ball game for nearly three quarters, then collapsed, to become the first Engineer squad since 1884 to go through a season without winning a game. Lafayette's great fullback, Walt Birinsky, ended his career in a blaze of glory.

So did Temple's Andy Tomasic in leading the Owls to a crushing 31-13 defeat of Holy Cross. The triple threat Tomasic gained a total

The Temple mentor, tired of "this forgetting of the right plays when the occasion arises," wrote the numbers of the plays to call on the pants of his quarterbacks. Al Drulis and Nick Soreno, before the start of the game.

How the Owls, plastered the week before by Michigan State, 46-6, could come back with such power against the Crusaders was puzzling until Morrison revealed his coaching secret.

Complete System
"We've got a great offense," he said. "I know it, but the quarterbacks forget it."

"Writing the plays on the pants is no reflection on the brains of the quarterbacks," he added. "We can't expect a youngster with other lessons on his mind to grasp a complex offense in less than five hours of actual work and retain what he hears when he has been kicked around for 15 or 20 minutes. For this game I changed my offense and sequence completely in two days."

This writing down of plays is perfectly legal, according to Morrison, and has been done before.

"In Texas," he said, recalling his coaching days at Southern Methodist, "the weather is usually dry and warm and we often wrote down the plays."

"If it is a rainy day you run into trouble and have to use tape. That gets dirty and peels off. But on a dry field it has always worked to advantage for me."

It certainly worked against Holy Cross. The Owls made 24 first downs to five and gained a net of 280 yards by rushing. But their first drive was stopped on the four.

What happened there? Morrison laughed. "Drulis must have got a bit of dirt on his pants."

Penn State's Crushing Defeat Of Pitt Proves Biggest Saturday Upset

By TED MEIER
Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—With the exception of five games this week, three on Thanksgiving and two Saturday, the 1941 college football season is over in Pennsylvania. The coaches and players can now turn their attention to picking all-star teams and getting ready for the winter banquet season.

The crushing 31 to 7 defeat of Pitt by Penn State and the surprising ease with which Pennsylvania turned back Cornell, 16-0, highlighted the week-end developments as most of the state's 48 elevens put their molasses away for another year.

Shatter Old Jinx
Penn State, a 2 to 1 underdog, shattered a 21-year "jinx" in walloping the Panthers with slippery Pepper Petrella lugging the ball over for three of the Nittany Lions' four touchdowns. Not since 1919 has Penn State beaten Pitt at Pittsburgh. The "jinx" seemed to be working when Edgar Jones broke away for a 43-yard touchdown run in the first quarter for Pitt, but Penn State came back to lead, 14-7, at the half and added 17 more points in the last two periods.

Pennsylvania, beaten only by Navy on a rainy day, expected tough going against Cornell, but it was Penn all the way as 74,000 marveled at Franklin field. Gene Davis booted a field goal from the 34 to start things off, then Bill Miller, Clearfield, Pa., sophomore, scooted 80 yards for a touchdown and Bert Stiff passed 27 yards to Bernie Kuczyński for the other score. Cornell never threatened as the Red and Blue concluded its best season in years.

Equals Old Records
E. E. "Hooks" Mylin, Lafayette coach, equalled a mark set by two earlier Lafayette mentors, Jack Sutherland and Herb McCracken, when his Maroon eleven rolled over Lehigh, 47-7, in their traditional battle for the fifth straight season.

Lehigh was in the ball game for nearly three quarters, then collapsed, to become the first Engineer squad since 1884 to go through a season without winning a game. Lafayette's great fullback, Walt Birinsky, ended his career in a blaze of glory.

PACKERS, BEARS MAY PLAY-OFF

Chicago, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers apparently are headed straight for a deadlock for the Western division title in the National Football league—and that would mean a playoff with lots of jingles in the cash register but headaches for the coaches of the teams concerned.

The New York Giants clinched the eastern crown by beating Washington yesterday 20-13.

Three-Touchdown Rally In Last Period Enables Bullets To Down Dickinson

Red Devils Surprise With Fine Exhibition At Start; Geiter Scampers 86 Yards

Gettysburg college came from behind to tally four touchdowns in the last half to upset Dickinson in their annual game at Carlisle Saturday afternoon, 31-17.

The Red Devils gave a surprising performance for more than half of the game and through the efforts of their ace passer, Doug Rehner, held at 17-6 advantage as late as midway in the third period.

Coach "Hen" Bream's lads were a badly disorganized outfit in the second period when Dickinson tallied a pair of touchdowns via the right arm of Rehner and at half time held a 14-6 lead.

Early in the third period Jay Overcash booted a pretty placement from the 15-yard stripe to hike the Red Devils' margin to 17-6.

Bullets Get Going
From that stage on it was all Gettysburg as the Bullets opened a powerful running attack that completely over-ran the fast-tiring Dickinson outfit.

The game opened with Dickinson kicking to Gettysburg, the ball being returned to the 32. After moving for a first down the home team intercepted. Rehner set the Bullets back deep into their own territory with the quick kick. The teams exchanged punts several times and then late in the quarter the Bullets tallied their first six-point.

March broke through the right side of the line to scamper 16 yards to reach the Red and White 25 where he lateraled to Hardy who reached the five before being dropped. March then plunged over for the score. Stock's try for the extra point was low.

Recover Fumble
The Kähler-men made the most of a Bullet fumble which was recovered on the Gettysburg 35. On a well-executed quick line-up play the Red Devils picked up a first down on the surprised Bullets as Prescott skirted right end to reach the 10.

Rehner then whipped a pass to Supulski in the end zone for a touchdown and Overcash added the extra point on placement.

A barrage of three straight passes from Rehner Supulski which was good for a 40-yard advance produced the second Dickinson score midway in the second period with Supulski scoring on the last pass which he caught on the goal line. Again Overcash converted.

Dickinson's final tally came early in the third period when Overcash booted a placement from the 15.

The Bullets finally snapped out of their sluggish ways to ruin the hopes of the Dickinson fans with a four-touchdown barrage.

Murloff Scores
Gettysburg ripped the tiring Dickinson team to shreds and moved 57 yards for a score. Hardy whipping a pass to Murloff over the goal line from the 10. Murloff made a beautiful catch as he was falling. Stock booted the extra point.

Jim Hardy set the stage for Gettysburg's third touchdown when he broke away for a 50 yard scamper to reach the 5-yard line. Fred Geiter, who put up a nice game during the afternoon, smashed through the line to put the Bullets out in front 19-17. Dickinson received the following kickoff and when Rehner attempted another pass Hart captured the ball in flat territory to run unopposed for 30 yards and a score.

Geiter Breaks Loose
One of the prettiest runs of the afternoon came a short time later. The Bullets took possession of the ball on their own 14 after Rehner got off a nice punt. Fred Geiter broke through the left side of the line, raced down the side-lines

PACKERS, BEARS MAY PLAY-OFF

Chicago, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers apparently are headed straight for a deadlock for the 15th division title in the National Football League—and that would mean a playoff with lots of jingles in the cash register but headaches for the coaches of the teams concerned.

The New York Giants clinched the eastern crown by beating Washington yesterday 20-13.

If the Packers ease past Washington next Sunday, and if the Bears outscore Philadelphia this week and the Chicago Cardinals on December 7, they will tie for western sectional honors and will have to meet for a third time this season on December 14, the date tentatively set for the titanic showdown between the champs of east and west.

The Bears were the only team to beat the Packers this year (25-17 on September 28) and the Packers were the only outfit to vanquish the Bears (16-14 on November 2).

A third engagement should be a box office wow. But Coaches George Halas and Curly Lambeau know it would take a lot to build up the clubs for another meeting and that a letdown might occur the next week, when the winner would have to face the New Yorkers.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—Representatives of the eight clubs in the Mid-Atlantic Baseball league this year announced they expect to continue in the circuit in 1942.

The club officials, participating in the league directors' annual meeting, represented Zanesville, Dayton, Springfield, Canton, Akron and Youngstown, Ohio, Erie Pa., and Charleston, West Virginia.

A definite decision, however, must await a meeting of the club's major league sponsors next month.

President Elmer Daily said that the circuit would remain in class C, for a change to B would cost each club $2,000 to $3,000 more a season.

NEW SECTIONAL LINEUP LIKELY IN SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, Nov. 24 (AP)—Indications point to a brand new sectional lineup in the Sugar bowl this year with the selections likely to be made before the Rose bowl opponents can be named.

Each of the past seven games has featured a team from the Southeastern or Southwest conference or both. Neither may be represented this time for their outstanding contenders still have crucial games to play.

President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans mid-winter sports association, denying reports that contestants already have been signed, said today "we may be in a position to announce the teams this week—but we may not."

There has been a swing toward unbeaten and untied Duquesne the past week on the part of the local press and public.

Irish Out
Still-glimmering hopes of landing undefeated Notre Dame took a blow yesterday when the school's athletic authorities repeated their declaration that the unbeaten Irish would play in no Rose bowl game.

Another possibility that the mid-west will be represented for the first time lies in Missouri, whose players closed their season with only one narrow defeat on the books, and voted to accept a bowl bid if it should come.

Duke's all-winning Blue Devils and Fordham's once-beaten Rams are still among leading possibilities.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 24—New angle on "industrial" basketball bobs up in connection with the A.A.U. tourney at the garden tonight. . . A winning team not only is a good ad for the company but where operations cover a wide territory, it boosts morale. The Phillips Oilers claim to have just as enthusiastic "alumni" as Notre Dame. . . Harvard's big Vern Miller kept his promise about stepping on the scales without concealment before the Yale game. He tipped the beam at 306 in full uniform and 292 without it. . . Just after Notre Dame beat Georgia Tech early in the season, Frank Leahy said: "Go through our schedule undefeated? Don't be silly. It just isn't in the books." . . Let's see, wasn't it about that time Frank first said Notre Dame wouldn't be interested in a bowl game either?

TAKE A CHANCE DEPT.

Five guys in Sioux Falls, S. D., have sent us their guesses on probable pairings for the New Year's Day games. All agree on Oregon State, Duke, Alabama, Notre Dame, Texas Aggies, Missouri, Duquesne and Fordham. We'll see. Meanwhile, how about pasting these guesses in your hats, boys? Rose Bowl—Oregon State vs. Mississippi (if Ole Miss comes through Saturday). Alabama went and got eliminated. Sugar Bowl—Fordham vs. Duke (see Saturday's tip). Cotton Bowl—Texas Aggies vs. Missouri. Orange Bowl—Georgia vs. Duquesne. Sun Bowl—You pick 'em.

FORGOT TO DUCK

Bob White, St. Albans (Vt.) coach, was out duck hunting the other day when he felt a strange sensation in his scalp. He reached up and grappled with a vigorous creature that turned out, when he had subdued it, to be an Arctic or Great Snow owl with a wing spread of 34 inches. Apparently it wanted his hat as a souvenir. Anyway, the boys now say it takes more than an owl to make Bob White quail.

Rams Ride Air Waves To 35-7 Victory

Steve Filipowicz (right), Fordham fullback, who played 58 minutes of the game with St. Mary's in New York, tosses an 11-yard pass to Jim Blumenstock, Rams halfback, in the first period. This pass wasn't good for a score, but four others were as Fordham struck through the air to defeat the Gaels, 35 to 7.

GRID RACES TO BE SETTLED ON THANKSGIVING

By GEORGE A. SCOTT

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—New leaders head three of the state's major high school football conferences today, but the margins of two are so small that they faced the possibility of being ousted from first place in Thursday's holiday wind-ups.

The closest races are in the western Pennsylvania and Wyoming Valley conferences.

Lock Haven, picking up 10 points through a 32-6 victory for Lewisburg, a team it defeated earlier in the season, over Perkiomen, forged five points ahead of Tyrone in the western race. Both teams stand to profit from Thanksgiving Day games, played by their beaten opponents, but Tyrone can collect 20 points to 10 for Lock Haven, a margin that would give it the lead. Unofficial standings of the two leaders:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Lock Haven	5	0	0	215
Tyrone	10	1	0	210

Berwick, profiting through a 13-7 triumph over Larksville replaced Luzerne as leader in the Wyoming Valley race but Thanksgiving games sending Edwardsville to Berwick and Luzerne to Larksville will decide the ultimate winner. Today's standings:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Berwick	5	0	0	471
Luzerne	5	1	0	445

In a less precarious position is Shenandoah, new pacemaker of the Eastern conference's southern division. The Blue Devils took over the lead by handling the former leader, Blythe township, a 32-7 lacing in scoring their eighth straight victory of the season. Official standings of the division's leaders:

	W	L	T	Rating
Shenandoah	7	0	0	735
Blythe Twp.	6	1	0	469
McAdoo	2	1	1	398

Despite the few games played, the week-end competition had its effect on almost every conference race and reduced the ranks of the undefeated teams by four.

Burgess township Union defeated Crafton 34-7 for the western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic league class A crown and East Pittsburgh nosed out Millville 7-6 for the Class B title while Mt. Lebanon qualified for the class AA playoffs against Johnstown by subduing Trinity 6-0. The Johnstown-Mt. Lebanon game will be played at Jeannette next Saturday.

Hamover Wins
In the Southern Pennsylvania conference, Hamover defeated Hershey 26-12 to assume itself of at least a tie with Mechanicsburg for the season's honors. Milton edged closer to first-place in the Susquehanna conference, which Lock Haven also leads, by stopping South Williamsport 20-7.

Only two games were played in the big fifteen and neither affected the leaders in the race for unofficial honors. Lancaster nosed out York 14-13 and Steelton downed Lebanon 19-6.

Previously unbeaten victims were Scranton Central, Johnsbury, Kulpmont and Lansdale. Central bowed to a powerful Phillipsburg, New Jersey, eleven 27-6, Thursday, Kulpmont was surprised, 25-0 by Ashland in one of the major upsets of the year. Johnsbury had its 17-game undefeated streak ended by Lock Haven, 14-12, in the "paper bowl" game at Lock Haven, and Lansdale, previously unscathed, lost to unbeaten Hallow in a game that decided the Bucks-Montgomery counties league title.

Unbeaten leaders who continued their streaks, in addition to Shenandoah, Berwick and Mt. Lebanon, included Altoona, which rolled over Braddock, 33-0; Johnstown, which turned back Erie Academy, 27-7; and Glen-Nor, winner over Sharon Hill 30-0.

Duquesne And Duke Await Bids To Bowl Games; West Coast Team Not Selected

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 24 (AP)—Except for the Army-Navy clash at Philadelphia Saturday and some widely spaced games here and there not much is left of the football season except allocating the various teams to the equally various bowls.

Of the four unbeaten powers, Minnesota isn't interested in a bowl invitation because of a Big Ten ruling. Except for that the Gophers, who haven't lost since late in 1939, probably could designate their own January 1 dwelling place.

Texas A and M still has two major opponents to play although it clinched the Southwest conference flag Saturday when Texas Christian was tied by Rice, 0 to 0. Thursday, the Texas Turkey Day, the Aggies seek to avenge the 7 to 0 upset the University of Texas hung on them a year ago.

Gophers On Top
Here's how the various conferences shape up with only one big week-end left in the season:

Big Ten: Minnesota retained its title by submerging Wisconsin, 41 to 6, for its seventeenth triumph in a row. Michigan and Ohio State, participants in Saturday's 20 to 20 thriller, likewise tied for second. Fourth place went to Northwestern, which closed Bob Zupke's career as coach of the Illini with a 27 to 0 setback. By conference rule the season ends the Saturday before the last Thursday in November and the teams are forbidden to compete in Post-season games.

Pacific coast: Any one of four teams, including Stanford, can become the coast team in the Rose bowl. That delicate piece of mystery was engineered last Saturday by Oregon when it spilled Washington, 19 to 16. Oregon and Oregon State meet Saturday and if the latter wins it's almost a sure-shot choice for the big bowl. The Beavers whipped Montana, 27 to 0, to get in shape for their big game this week-end. Stanford meets California.

In the Southeast
Southeastern: Mississippi and Mississippi State will do much to clarify the picture in their meeting at Oxford Saturday. Old Miss trimmed Arkansas Saturday while the Staters walloped little Millsaps, 49 to 6, in warmups for the big game. Third-place Vanderbilt, after spilling over Kentucky, Tennessee, victor over Kentucky, and Georgia Tech and Georgia collide to share interest with the annual L.S.U.-Tulane struggle.

Missouri Valley: Tulsa retained the Conference title by drubbing Drake, 20 to 6.

Southern: Duke's unblemished record already assures it of a title share while William and Mary's Indians can draw abreast of the Blue Devils this week by defeating North Carolina State, Duke's 56 to 6 victim Saturday. South Carolina has only a tie to mar its look record and meets Penn State this week.

Utah Keeps Title
Rocky Mountains big seven: Utah kept the title with record of five wins and two ties. Ike Armstrong's Utes, idle Saturday, backed into the title when Colorado State spilled Brigham Young, 22-7.

Big Six: Missouri's Bowl hungry Tigers smashed Kansas, 46 to 6, with Harry Lee carrying the ball eight times for a total gain of 240 yards. Nebraska beat Iowa, 14 to 13, and the Oklahoma whipped Marquette, 61 to 14. Nebraska and Oklahoma meet Saturday at Lincoln with the Sooners needing a victory for undisputed second place.

East: Harvard is the Big Three king, beating Yale 14 to 0 as the clincher. The week's card is topped by the Army-Navy clash but also includes the traditional Fordham-New York university game. The Rams, winner over St. Mary's, 35 to 7, still are in the Bowl limelight despite their loss to Pittsburgh. The Panthers tackle Carnegie Tech in

By TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—With the exception of five games this week, three on Thanksgiving and two Saturday, the 1941 college football season is over in Pennsylvania. The coaches and players can now turn their attention to picking all-star teams and getting ready for the winter banquet season.

The crushing 31 to 7 defeat of Pitt by Penn State and the surprising ease with which Pennsylvania turned back Cornell, 16-0, highlighted the week-end developments as most of the state's 48 eleven put their moleskins away for another year.

Shatter Old Jinx

Penn State, a 2 to 1 underdog, shattered a 21-year "jinx" in walloping the Panthers with slippery Pepper Petrella lugging the ball over for three of the Nittany Lions' four touchdowns. Not since 1919 has Penn State beaten Pitt at Pittsburgh. The "jinx" seemed to be working when Edgar Jones broke away for a 43-yard touchdown run in the first quarter for Pitt, but Penn State came back to lead, 14-7, at the half and added 17 more points in the last two periods.

Pennsylvania, beaten only by Navy on a rainy day, expected tough going against Cornell, but it was Penn all the way as 74,000 marveled at Franklin field. Gene Davis booted a field goal from the 34 to start things off, then Bill Miller, Clearfield, Pa., sophomore, scooted 30 yards for a touchdown and Bert Stiff passed 27 yards to Bernie Kuczyński for the other score. Cornell never threatened as the Red and Blue concluded its best season in years.

Equals Old Records

E. E. "Hooks" Mylin, Lafayette coach, equaled a mark set by two earlier Lafayette mentors, Jock Sutherland and Herb McCracken, when his Maroon eleven rolled over Lehigh, 47-7, in their traditional battle for the fifth straight season.

Lehigh was in the ball game for nearly three quarters, then collapsed, to become the first Engineer squad since 1884 to go through a season without winning a game. Lafayette's great fullback, Walt Birinsky, ended his career in a blaze of glory.

So did Temple's Andy Tomasie in leading the Owls to a crushing 31-13 defeat of Holy Cross. The triple threat Tomasie gained a total Shippensburg downed a tough Lock Haven team, 14-6, while Geneva walloped Bethany, 21-0.

G-BURG SENIORS FINISH CAREERS HERE THURSDAY

Six Gettysburg college seniors are listed to play in their final football game here Thursday afternoon when Muhlenberg college will be met for the 25th time in a series which began in 1907.

Bill Emanuel, 207-pound guard and the Bullets' hope for a place on the all-state team, will ring down the curtain on a brilliant career. Emanuel has been one of the mainstays of the strong forward wall for the last three seasons.

Harold Sherman, fullback, will be unable to play against the Muhls due to an injury received in scrimmage last week. His loss will be a severe blow as he has been by far the most consistent performer during the campaign as well as the team's leading ground-gainer.

Smith to Go
Another lad who will be greatly missed is Roger Smith. Despite his small stature Smith has been one of the outstanding stars of the team. He has been a bulwark on the defense and a great diagnostician of opponents' plays.

"Moe" Murloff, end, will be performing for the last time. The Carlisle youth has specialized on pass receiving and has proven a consistent performer.

Injuries hampered Joe Stock, halfback, during the better part of his career but this season he came into his own and has lived up to expectations. An excellent blocker, Stock also possessed a fine passing arm and punted with the best.

Although he was used mostly for relief work, Charley Falkner, center, gave a good account of himself whenever inserted into the lineup.

Opening Delayed In Hockey Circuit
Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—Officials of the new Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Ice Hockey league hope to get the league season underway December 2 after cancellation of yesterday's scheduled opening contests.

Peter Tyrrell, Arena manager, said the two-game opener was called off on the advice of police authorities because the state's blue laws permit only baseball and football on Sundays.

LaSalle had been scheduled to meet St. Joseph's and Penn was to oppose Lehigh. The December 2 games bring together Drexel and LaSalle and Franklin and Marshall against Temple.

Complete System
"We've got a great offense," he said. "I know it, but the quarterbacks forget it."

"Writing the plays on the pants is no reflection on the brains of the quarterbacks," he added. "We can't expect a youngster with other lessons on his mind to grasp a complex offense in less than five hours of actual work and retain what he hears when he has been kicked around for 15 or 20 minutes. For this game I changed my offense and sequence completely in two days."

This writing down of plays is perfectly legal, according to Morrison, and has been done before.

"In Texas," he said, recalling his coaching days at Southern Methodist, "the weather is usually dry and warm and we often wrote down the plays."

Dirt Upsets Plans
"If it is a rainy day you run into trouble and have to use tape. That gets dirty and peels off. But on a dry field it has always worked to advantage for me."

It certainly worked against Holy Cross. The Owls made 24 first downs to five and gained a net of 280 yards by rushing. But their first drive was stopped on the four.

What happened there? Morrison laughed. "Druils must have got a bit of dirt on his pants."

Arendtville Will Play Benefit Game
Receipts of the basketball game between the Arendtville Vocational high school and Washington Township high to be played December 19 at Arendtville will go to the Naismith fund to erect a temple of basketball at Springfield, Massachusetts.

Throughout the country the golden jubilee of basketball is being observed this year. Basketball was started by Dr. James Naismith in 1891 at Springfield.

Benefit games will be played throughout the nation this year with funds going toward the establishment of a basketball hall of fame at Springfield. The temple will also include an historical museum and model court.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

A distinguished New England
gentleman and philosopher walked
behind the pulpit of the Old South
church, in Boston, March 30th, 1878,
and delivered a great lecture which he called "Fortune of the Republic."

I wish to quote a few sentences from that talk. He said:

"Never country had such a fortune, as men call fortune, as this,
in its geography, its history, and
in its majestic possibilities."
"I wish to see America not like
the old powers of the earth, grasping, exclusive, and narrow, but a benefactor such as no country ever
was, hospitable to all nations, legislating for all nationalities. Nations were made to help each other
as much as families were, and all
advancement is by ideas, and not by
brute force or mechanic force."

"We are in these days settling for ourselves and our descendants questions which, as they shall be determined in one way or the other,
will make the peace and prosperity
or the calamity of the next ages.
The questions of Education, of Society, of Labor, the direction of talent, of character, the nature and habits of the American, may well
Religion."

These words were spoken by Ralph Waldo Emerson. They could as well have been uttered today, for America, as never before, now stands at the cross-roads of the direst hour in all its history. In the words of the lamented Lincoln: "We shall nobly save, or meanly lose, the last best
hope of earth."

At the end of Central Park, in New York city, stands the majestic statue of Daniel Webster. At its base are the immortal words of the great statesman: "Liberty and Union, Now and Forever, One and Inseparable." Today, again, these words utter a challenging cry.

Without Liberty throughout the world, "the last best hope of earth"
will perish. And without a Union of resolve and purpose against every agency of freedom and liberty, we "meanly lose" all that we should
"nobly save."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Making People Over."

And brave the blazing sun,
And think how clearly is revealed
The shame of sword and gun.
And all the folly of the great

The strengthening morning meal,
And hoe and rake and time and

And peace is their till night de-

Till harvest time they tend the

From springtime till the frost
Not one of them in terror stops,
Nor fears his labor lost.
The only enemies they fight
Are rust and aphid, worm and

And watching them and all their

And all they know of tears,
The weariness their bodies bear
How foolish war appears!
Better the rule that labors now
To keep the farmer at his plow.

Football: The college eleven went to Emmitsburg Wednesday afternoon and played a friendly game of football with the boys of Mt. St.
Mary's. Two full halves were played, the score being 62 to 6 in favor of Pennsylvania. . . . Pennsylvania adopted all kinds of tactics. She played both a running and a rushing game and made great gains by each style of play. Hale, Elmsley, Fiden, Gensemer and Rudisill secured the touchdowns for Pennsyvania.

On Saturday the eleven went to Hagerstown for a game with the athletic team of that place. A special train carrying more than one hundred students and supporters, left here at 10 o'clock. The game consisted of two halves of thirty minutes each, and resulted in a victory for the college boys by a score of 50 to 0.

Muhlenberg will not be here on Thanksgiving. Their faculty will not grant the eleven permission to come.

FDR Said To Favor Legislation To Curb Labor Crises

RAYBURN SAYS HOUSE TO ACT ON SOME MOVE

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—Despite a marked improvement in the strike situation, President Roosevelt was said today to favor legislative remedies against a recurrence
of the recent series of labor
crises.

Moreover, Congress was in no mood to let the matter drop, and Speaker Rayburn was expected to make a formal announcement during the day that labor legislation
would be called up in the House,
just as soon as the chamber disposes of the pending price control
bill.

Rayburn declined to indicate
what type the labor bill would be,
but he looked for an extended discussion of the topic when capital hill leaders see President Roosevelt
today for their regular Monday conference at the White House.

Roosevelt Attitude
Chairman Norton (D-N.J.), who
hopes the House Labor committee will work out "some kind of a bill"
by the week-end, offered a hint as to Mr. Roosevelt's attitude.

"My impression," she said, "is that the President favors legislation to prevent a repetition of what has happened last week. We had hoped that labor would do something itself."

By "last week" Mrs. Norton apparently referred to the captive coal strike—which ended abruptly and unexpectedly Saturday when the policy committee of CIO's United Mine workers voted to accept President Roosevelt's peace formula and submit the disputed union shop issue
to a three-man board of arbitration.
The board may hold its first meeting today.

End Grave Threat
The end of the captive coal strike
—and the sympathy strikes it produced in the union shop commercial mines—lifted a grave threat to continued steel production and removed
the danger of a soft coal shortage
for other industries and much railroad operation. The big steel mills, which own the captive mines and
use their output, were beginning to feel the fuel pinch seriously when
the back-to-work order was issued.

Besides the coal strike end, the week-end also brought an agreement which erased the threat of a telephone strike affecting long distance communications in 42 states.

This dispute involved the American telephone and telegraph communication system and the Federation of Long Lines Telephone workers, an independent union representing 15,000 workers. The agreement, reached last night, provided for
wage increases totalling $3,000,000
annually and for the creation of two boards to make further wage adjustments and to study geographic wage differentials.

Rail Dispute
Still unsettled was the railroad wage dispute, which has led the operating brotherhoods to issue a strike call for Dec. 7. Labor and management representatives held separate meetings yesterday, and planned to resume joint conferences
today.

The belief in the capital was strong that some agreement would
be worked out this week or, failing
that, some further government action would be taken to avert the walkout.

Mrs. Norton said today she thought the miners' decision to accept arbitration "will have the effect of not rushing the legislation
as much as it might otherwise have been, but I think that the House will insist on some kind of legislation."

"I'm opposed to rushing this thing
through lest we destroy what we already have built up for labor."

"I think the Labor committee
realizes that these defense strikes can't continue—there's simply got to be a curb on strikes and it will be much better for legislation to come from friends of labor than
from its enemies."

SAVE PINE CONES
It is time to pick up pine cones and save them for holiday decorations, or gildings. Store the cones in a bag in a cool place. They make effective ornaments to use for topping holiday goodie boxes. Their edges can be lightly brushed with red or green paint.

South side of it, the store will be placed.

The repairs to the German Reformed church in town are progressing favorably. The new organ was put in position last week.

HITLER MOVES TO OFFSET U.S. SHOOTING WAR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(By the Associated Press)

The inspiration for W. Averell Harriman's frank broadcast from London that "our Navy is shooting German—German submarines and aircraft at sea" hasn't been disclosed but it's clear that, among other things, it might afford encouragement to the non-Axis nations to resist the Hitlerian politico-economic peace-bid which the White House warns is in the making.

In any event, the American war-aid official's declaration was made on the eve of the Berlin conference of nations aligned with Germany
"to fight Bolshevism." Naturally there is speculation whether this meeting might be the forerunner of an effort to establish Hitler's
"new order," especially in view of reports that French Vichy is considering further cooperation with Nazidom.

7 New Signers

Color is lent to that thought by the German announcement today
that seven new nations—Finland,
Denmark, Bulgaria, Croatia, Ru-
mania, Slovakia and Japanese-sponsored Nanking—are to sign the anti-Comintern pact. The present members of the agreement are Germany, Japan, Italy, Spain, Hungary and Manchukuo.

Would Help Reich

There can be small doubt that Hitler's new great offensive against Moscow is to a certain degree window-dressing for this anti-Comin-tern meeting, and a display of might for the benefit of the Japanese in the midst of their conferences with Washington. This is said to be the mightiest attack of the war, and reported as having thrust the Russians back at three points, notably in the Solnetsno-gorski sector some 31 miles northwest of Moscow—the closest the Nazis have come to the capital heretofore.

The last thing the Allies and their supporters want at this juncture is to see Herr Hitler stage a successful conference which would put
the continent to work under his domination for the benefit of Germany. Such a development would be calculated to set the economic and industrial wheels turning again,
quiet the growing revolt against the Reich, and at the same time help
repair the increasingly heavy war
damage suffered by the fatherland.

The object of this maneuver would
of course, be to produce a stalemate in the war. This would permit the Nazi chief to retain such
of his conquests as seemed feasible,
and to keep the rest of the countries under his control through rigid customs-unions. In other words a vastly enlarged Reich
would be the center of a Nazi federation comprising all the nations
of the continent, including the rich conquered Russian territory.

Not Self-Contained

The weakness of this plan at present is that the Europe which is now under the Nazi hegemony of force isn't self-contained by a long way. It lacks vital supplies for the prosecution of war—oil, for instance—which Hitler must have to survive. This accounts for his fierce
and bloody efforts to break into the Caucasus where the oil is to be had. This region, too, like the Ukraine is one of the world's greatest agricultural centers.

If Hitler could add this oil and grain to his other acquisitions, he might be in position to carry on
a war of attrition for a long time
—provided always that Europe
would cooperate with him fully in his "new order." Anyway, there are many signs that he has this hope in mind as a compromise for

San Angelo, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. R.
C. Williams lost the engagement ring her husband gave her 26 years

liams believes she dropped it in the butter, and when she buttered the toast, she buttered the diamond out
of its hiding place.

YOUNG DOCTOR ENDS OWN LIFE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24 (AP)—
Authorities expressed hope today
that they would learn from Mrs.
Rosemary Cutter Travis, in a hospital with her wrists slashed, the circumstances which led to her wounds and the apparent suicide of
her socially prominent husband, Dr.
Richard C. Travis, former resident of Reading, Pa.

Police officers who were summoned
to the Travis home at 3 a. m. yesterday by Travis' seven year old son,
found Doctor Travis' body hanging
from a rope fastened to a basement
door hinge, and his attractive brunette wife lying semi-conscious in an upstairs bedroom.

The officers said that the boy told
them that his stepmother told him
to call police to come "right away."

Dr. Wesley C. Ward, deputy coroner, reported that he found a note addressed to the physician and signed with Mrs. Travis' name, saying "you have hurt me before my friends. Good bye." Ward said there was a party at the Travis
home Saturday night.

Ward theorized that Doctor
Travis, who was 42, had found his wife after she had slashed her wrists, believed she was dead, and then hanged himself. Her condition was reported as fair at City
hospital.

Doctor Travis, who was the son of Julius C. Travis, Sr., former judge of the Indiana Supreme court, was
a specialist in urology.

ONE KILLED IN TRAIN SMASH

Corinth, Miss., Nov. 24 (AP)—Five cars of the Illinois Central's passenger train, the Seminole, tumbled down a 30-foot embankment in marshy lowlands near here yesterday, killing one person and injuring more than 60 others.

Mrs. Dovie Robertson, about 70,

after reaching a hospital. Another woman, identified as Mrs. J. V.
Garman, of Chicago, was not expected to live.

Eight of the train's twelve cars
left the tracks as the Seminole northbound from Florida to Chicago approached the Corinth station.
Wayne Johnston, assistant to the vice president of the railroad, said
a transverse fissure in a rail caused
the wreck.

Rescue groups rushed to the lowlands to drag screaming passengers from the wreckage after engines
"Buck" Townes, of Jackson, Ten-from the derailed cars and pulled into Corinth to seek aid.

Today's Talk By George Matthew Adams

A distinguished New England
gentleman and philosopher walked
behind the pulpit of the Old South
church, in Boston, March 30th, 1878,
and delivered a great lecture which
he called "Fortune of the Republic."
I wish to quote a few sentences from
that talk. He said:

"Never country had such a fortune, as men call fortune, as this,
in its geography, its history, and
in its majestic possibilities."

"I wish to see America not like
the old powers of the earth, grasp-
ing, exclusive, and narrow, but a benefactor such as no country ever
was, hospitable to all nations, legislating for all nationalities. Nations were made to help each other
advancement is by ideas, and not by
brute force or mechanic force."

"We are in these days settling for
ourselves and our descendants questions which, as they shall be determined in one way or the other,
will make the peace and prosperity
of the calamity of the next ages.
The questions of Education, of Society, of Labor, the direction of talent, of character, the nature and
habits of the American, may well
Religion."

These words were spoken by Ralph Waldo Emerson. They could as well
have been uttered today, for America, as never before, now stands at
the cross-roads of the direst hour in all its history. In the words of the lamented Lincoln: "We shall nobly
save, or meanly lose, the last best
hope of earth."

At one end of Central Park, in New York city, stands the majestic
statue of Daniel Webster. At its base are the immortal words of the great statesman: "Liberty and Union, Now and Forever, One and Inseparable." Today, again, these words utter a challenging cry.
Without Liberty throughout the world, "the last best hope of earth"
will perish. And without a Union
of resolve and purpose against every enemy of freedom and liberty, we "meanly lose" all that we should
"nobly save."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Making People Over."

style of play. Hale, Hipeley,

On Saturday the eleven went to

FDR Said To Favor Legislation To Curb Labor Crises

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—Despite a marked improvement in the strike situation, President Roosevelt was said today to favor legislative remedies against a recurrence
of the recent series of labor
crises.

Moreover, Congress was in no
mood to let the matter drop, and Speaker Rayburn was expected to make a formal announcement during the day that labor legislation
would be called up in the House,
just as soon as the chamber dis-
poses of the pending price control
bill.

Rayburn declined to indicate
what type the labor bill would be,
but he looked for an extended discussion of the topic when capitol
hill leaders see President Roosevelt
today for their regular Monday conference at the White House.

Roosevelt Attitude
Chairman Norton (D-N.J.), who
hopes the House Labor committee
will work out "some kind of a bill"
by the week-end, offered a hint as
to Mr. Roosevelt's attitude.

"My impression," she said, "is that
the President favors legislation to prevent a repetition of what has happened last week. We had hoped that labor would do something itself."

By "last week" Mrs. Norton apparently referred to the captive coal
strike—which ended abruptly and unexpectedly Saturday when the
policy committee of CIO's United Mine workers voted to accept President Roosevelt's peace formula and submit the disputed union shop issue
to a three-man board of arbitration.
The board may hold its first meeting today.

End Grave Threat
The end of the captive coal strike
—and the sympathy strikes it produced in the union shop—commercial
mines—lifted a grave threat to continued steel production and removed
the danger of a soft coal shortage
for other industries and much railroad operation. The big steel mills,
which own the captive mines and
use their output, were beginning to feel the fuel pinch seriously when
the back-to-work order was issued.

Besides the coal strike end, the
ment which erased the threat of a
telephone strike affecting long distance communications in 42 states.

This dispute involved the American telephone and telegraph communication system and the Federation of Long Lines Telephone workers, an independent union representing 15,000 workers. The agreement, reached last night, provided for
wage increases totalling $3,000,000
annually and for the creation of
two boards to make further wage adjustments and to study geographic wage differentials.

Rail Dispute
Still unsettled was the railroad
wage dispute, which has led the
operating brotherhoods to issue a strike call for Dec. 7. Labor and management representatives held
separate meetings yesterday, and planned to resume joint conferences
today.

The belief in the capital was strong that some agreement would
be worked out this week or, failing
that some further government
action would be taken to avert the walkout.

Mrs. Norton said today she thought the miners' decision to accept arbitration "will have the effect of not rushing the legislation
as much as it might otherwise have been, but I think that the House
will insist on some kind of legislation."

"I'm opposed to rushing this thing
through lest we destroy what we already have built up for labor."
"I think the Labor committee
realizes that these defense strikes
can't continue—there's simply got
be much better for legislation to
come from friends of labor than
from its enemies."

tions, or gilding. Store the cones
in a bag in a cool place. They make effective ornaments to use for topping holiday goody boxes. Their

of an effort to establish Hitler's
"new order," especially in view of
reports that French Vichy is con-
Nazism.

7 New Signers

Color is lent to that thought by
the German announcement today
that seven new nations—Finland,
Denmark, Bulgaria, Croatia, Ru-
mania, Slovakia and Japanese-
sponsored Nanking—are to sign the anti-Comintern pact. The present
members of the agreement are Germany, Japan, Italy, Spain, Hungary and Manchukuo.

Would Help Reich

There can be small doubt that Hitler's new great offensive against Moscow is to a certain degree window-dressing for this anti-Comin-
tern meeting, and a display of
might for the benefit of the Japanese in the midst of their conferences with Washington. This is said to be the mightiest attack of the war, and reported as having
thrust the Russians back at three points, notably in the Solnetschnogorski sector some 31 miles northwest of Moscow—the closest the Nazis have come to the capital

heretofore.

The last thing the Allies and their supporters want at this juncture is to see Herr Hitler stage a successful conference which would put
the continent to work under his domination for the benefit of Germany. Such a development would
be calculated to set the economic
and industrial wheels turning again,
quiet the growing revolt against the Reich, and at the same time help
repair the increasingly heavy war
damage suffered by the fatherland.

The object of this maneuver would,
of course, be to produce a stale-
mate in the war. This would permit the Nazi chief to retain such
of his conquests as seemed feasible,
and to keep the rest of the countries under his control through rigid customs-unions. In other words a vastly enlarged Reich
would be the center of a Nazi federation comprising all the nations
of the continent, including the rich
conquered Russian territory.

Not Self-Contained

The weakness of this plan at present is that the Europe which is now under the Nazi hegemony of
force isn't self-contained by a long way. It lacks vital supplies for the prosecution of war—oil, for instance—which Hitler must have to survive. This accounts for his fierce
and bloody efforts to break into
the Caucasus where the oil is to be had. This region, too, like the Ukraine is one of the world's greatest agricultural centers.

If Hitler could add this oil and
grain to his other acquisitions, he might be in position to carry on
a war of attrition for a long time
—provided always that Europe
would cooperate with him fully in his "new order." Anyway, there are many signs that he has this
hope in mind as a compromise for

San Angelo, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. R.

ring her husband gave her 26 years

toast four days later. Mrs. Wil-

butter, and when she buttered the
toast, she buttered the diamond out
of its hiding place.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24 (AP)—
Authorities expressed hope today
that they would learn from Mrs.
Rosemary Cutter Travis, in a hospital with her wrists slashed, the
circumstances which led to her wounds and the apparent suicide of
her socially prominent husband, Dr.
Richard C. Travis, former resident
of Reading, Pa.

Police officers who were summoned
to the Travis home at 3 a. m. yesterday by Travis' seven year old son,
found Doctor Travis' body hanging
from a rope fastened to a basement
door hinge, and his attractive
brunette wife lying semi-conscious in
an upstairs bedroom.

The officers said that the boy told
them that his stepmother told him
to call police to come "right away."
Dr. Wesley C. Ward, deputy coroner, reported that he found a note
addressed to the physician and signed with Mrs. Travis' name, saying "you have hurt me before my friends. Good bye." Ward said
there was a party at the Travis
home Saturday night.

Ward theorized that Doctor
Travis, who was 42, had found his
wife after she had slashed her
wrists, believed she was dead, and
then hanged himself. Her condition was reported as fair at City
hospital.

Doctor Travis, who was the son of Julius C. Travis, Sr., former judge
of the Indiana Supreme court, was
a specialist in urology.

down a 30-foot embankment in
marshy lowlands near here yesterday, killing one person and injuring
more than 60 others.

Mrs. Dovie Robertson, about 70,

after reaching a hospital. Another
woman, identified as Mrs. J. V.

left the tracks as the Seminole

approached the Corinth station.
Wayne Johnston, assistant to the
vice president of the railroad, said
a transverse fissure in a rail caused
the wreck.

MINERS' WIVES HAPPY; EXPECT "XMAS CHECKS"

Pittsburgh, Nov. 24 (AP)—For the third time in 10 weeks thousands of Pennsylvania's captive miners trooped back to work today without having achieved the objective of their strikes—a union shop.

Some were frankly disgruntled, for that reason.

"We got nothing," said Flore Londono, an employee of the Republic corporation mine at Russellton, Allegheny county. "We should stay out."

Others were pleased over the United Mine Workers' acceptance Saturday of President Roosevelt's new plan for arbitration of the dispute. The union shop, sole issue, requires miners to join the union after a brief period of employment.

Wives Are Happy
Henry O'Neill, president of a union local at Rural Ridge, said:

"We came out 100 per cent, and we're going back 100 per cent. We figure they know what they're doing down there in Washington."

Most of their wives were happy because the return to work means there will be paychecks before Christmas. Mrs. Fred Trocki, wife of an Indianapolis coal cutter and mother of eight children, said: "I'm glad because—well, when you have 10 in the house to feed . . ."

Also lugging dinner pails back to the pits were thousands of commercial miners who walked out in sympathy with the captive strike.

May Invoke Fines
Some commercial coal operators served notice they intended invoking the $1-a-day fine against their employees for the walkouts unauthorized by the union's national headquarters. The Appalachian agreement contains the penalty clause.

Meanwhile, steel mills again began getting back to normal operations, curtailed by the shortage of coal and coke. The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation said its full production schedule would not be attained until Wednesday. Eleven of its blast furnaces were blown out, an 80-inch mill shut down, open hearths taken out and hundreds of bee-hive coke ovens sealed.

Annie M. Warner Hospital Adopts New Service Plan; All Facilities Available

Service agreements with the Capital Hospital service, a non-profit plan for hospital care, have been signed by authorized officers of the board of directors at the Warner hospital. It was announced today. That action was provided for at the November meeting of the hospital board a week ago.

Thirty-five other hospitals in south central Pennsylvania, the area assigned to the Capital Hospital service, have signed as members of the plan, Clement W. Hunt, executive director of the plan, said today.

An explanation of the service now offered to residents of this community through the agreement now in force with the Warner hospital was given today by Dr. E. H. Markley, president of the hospital's board of directors. His statement follows:

"The non-profit hospital service plan idea had its origin in Dallas, Texas, about ten years ago. Faced with the ever present problem of hospital expense, the public school teachers of that city proposed to the Baylor University hospital that each teacher be permitted to pay a small amount each month into a common fund. From that fund the bills of those who chanced to need hospital care would be paid. The proposal was accepted and before the first year ended other employee groups asked that they be permitted to join in the plan.

Standards Set Up
"Other communities adopted the plan and in 1934 the American Hospital association took official notice of it. In order to protect both the hospitals and the people they served, the association set up standards by which the merits and soundness of these new plans could be judged.

"By 1937, there were 35 community sponsored plans approved by the American Hospital association with one million members. But in the past four years the number of approved plans has increased to 67 and the membership is now over 7,500,000. Those approved by the association are popularly called Blue Cross plans because they are privileged to display the seal of the association super-imposed on a blue cross.

"Capital Hospital service is one of the approved plans. It was incorporated on February 15, 1938, as a non-profit hospitalization plan, with the approval of the state Department of Insurance. It was organized by representatives of the Carlisle hospital, the Harrisburg hospital, the Harrisburg Polyclinic hospital, the Keystone hospital of Harrisburg, and the Dauphin County Medical society. Each hospital advanced a substantial amount of money to get the plan under way, but before the first year was up this money was repaid in full to the sponsoring hospitals."

"The service agreement, which a member hospital signs, is the very basis of the plan. Under the contract the management of the hospital pledges itself to render certain hospital services to those who subscribe to the plan regardless of the cost of those services. The contract issued by Capital Hospital Service provides the following services to a subscribing member when hospitalized:

"Twenty-one days of care with full benefits and sixty additional days at partial coverage in any one contract year. This includes bed and board, use of the operating room, medication and application forms may be obtained from Arthur W. Warman, secretary of the local board of Civil Service Examiners.

as many times as may be necessary, anesthesia when administered by an employee of the hospital, ordinary medications and dressings, X-ray examinations, and ordinary laboratory examinations. It is the intent of the plan that all ordinary hospital care will be provided without charge except as explained in the following paragraph.

Employment Required
"The subscriber must be a gainfully employed person. He is privileged to enroll his wife and all dependent unmarried children under 19 years of age who reside with him. The record family in Capital Hospital Service consists of a father, mother, and thirteen children, each one entitled to twenty-one days of care. While the subscriber is entitled to full benefits, he pays a small daily service charge to the hospital when one of his dependents is hospitalized. This enables the plan to maintain lower subscription rates for family contracts.

"Blue Cross plans for the most part offer only semi-private room service. At least 90 per cent of the members hold contracts providing this type of service. An increasing number of plans, however, are also offering a ward service contract at a substantially lower subscription cost. Capital Hospital Service is prepared to offer prospective members a choice of ward or semi-private service.

"The monthly subscription rates for semi-private service are 75 cents for one person, $1.25 for a man and wife, and $1.60 for a family. The monthly rates for the holder of a ward service contract are 50 cents for one person, 85 cents for a man and wife, and $1.00 for a family.

Not Operated for Profit
"These low rates are possible because the plan is operated not for profit, having the same status as the hospitals it represents. The members of the board of directors are representative business men who give of their time and effort without any pay whatsoever. There is no capital stock and accordingly no dividends are paid. All employees work on a salary basis with no commissions paid those who solicit subscribers. Only 13 cents of each dollar paid in by the membership is used for the administration of the plan; the balance is always available for hospital care.

"While there has been only one month in the past three years in which expenses, including hospitalization, exceeded income, it is important that there be a substantial reserve fund. Capital Hospital Service had a reserve of $120,000 on October 31, 1941, an amount considered amply sufficient for any unexpected increase in hospital expense caused by an epidemic or disaster.

More Than 50,000 Members
"Like all of the Blue Cross plans, Capital Hospital Service has grown rapidly. Starting with a group of Carlisle public school teachers on March 1, 1938, the membership now exceeds 50,000. Over 6,000 members have been hospitalized under the plan and the hospital bills have already exceeded $305,000. Payments to the hospitals this year alone will amount to about $180,000.

"Capital Hospital Service, like the other community plans, was established primarily for the benefit of employed families of modest means. It is definitely fulfilling this purpose. At the same time it is helping the hospitals. Many patients, who would otherwise require free or part pay service, are having their bills paid by the Blue Cross at a time when Community Chests are finding it increasingly difficult to meet the needs of the hospitals."

Ground school supervisors will be appointed at $2,900 and $3,500 a year. Assistant airway traffic controllers are being sought at $2,300 a year.

The commission also has announced an examination to fill a librarian position in the technical processes division in the library of the Department of Agriculture. The salary is $3,800 a year. The deadline for applications for this position is December 4.

The Commission has just re-issued its examination announcement for inspectors of naval ordnance materials covering positions paying from $1,620 to $2,600 a year. A particularly pressing need for junior inspectors in the Navy department is to be filled.

Applications will be accepted until further notice on all of the positions excepting that for which the December deadline is listed. Information

Annie M. Warner Hospital Adopts New Service Plan; All Facilities Available

Service agreements with the Capital Hospital service, a 'non-profit' plan for hospital care, have been signed by authorized officers of the board of directors at the Warner hospital, it was announced today. That action was provided for at the November meeting of the hospital board a week ago.

Thirty-five other hospitals in south central Pennsylvania, the area assigned to the Capital Hospital service, have signed as members of the plan, Clement W. Hunt, executive director of the plan, said today.

An explanation of the service now offered to residents of this community through the agreement now in force with the Warner hospital was given today by Dr. E. H. Markley, president of the hospital's board of directors. His statement follows:

"The non-profit hospital service plan idea had its origin in Dallas, Texas, about ten years ago. Faced with the ever present problem of hospital expense, the public school teachers of that city proposed to the Baylor University hospital that each teacher be permitted to pay a small amount each month into a common fund. From that fund the bills of those who chanced to need hospital care would be paid. The proposal was accepted and before the first year ended other employee groups asked that they be permitted to join in the plan.

Standards Set Up
"Other communities adopted the plan and in 1934 the American Hospital association took official notice of it. In order to protect both the hospitals and the people they served, the association set up standards by which the merits and soundness of these new plans could be judged.

"By 1937, there were 35 community sponsored plans approved by the American Hospital association with one million members. But in the past four years the number of approved plans has increased to 67 and the membership is now over 7,500,000. Those approved by the association are popularly called Blue Cross plans because they are privileged to display the seal of the association super-imposed on a blue cross.

"Capital Hospital service is one of the approved plans. It was incorporated on February 15, 1938, as a non-profit hospitalization plan, with the approval of the state Department of Insurance. It was organized by representatives of the Carlisle hospital, the Harrisburg hospital, the Harrisburg Polyclinic hospital, the Keystone hospital of Harrisburg, and the Dauphin County Medical society. Each hospital advanced a substantial amount of money to get the plan under way, but before the first year was up this money was repaid in full to the sponsoring hospitals.

"The service agreement, which a member hospital signs, is the very basis of the plan. Under the contract the management of the hospital pledges itself to render certain hospital services to those who subscribe to the plan regardless of the cost of those services. The contract issued by Capital Hospital Service provides the following services to a subscribing member when hospitalized:

"Twenty-one days of care with full benefits and sixty additional days at partial coverage in any one contract year. This includes bed and board, use of the operating room

as many times as may be necessary, anesthesia when administered by an employee of the hospital, ordinary medications and dressings, X-ray examinations, and ordinary laboratory examinations. It is the intent of the plan that all ordinary hospital care will be provided without charge except as explained in the following paragraph.

Employment Required
"The subscriber must be a gainfully employed person. He is privileged to enroll his wife and all dependent unmarried children under 19 years of age who reside with him. The record family in Capital Hospital Service consists of a father, mother, and thirteen children, each one entitled to twenty-one days of care. While the subscriber is entitled to full benefits, he pays a small daily service charge to the hospital when one of his dependents is hospitalized. This enables the plan to maintain lower subscription rates for family contracts.

"Blue Cross plans for the most part offer only semi-private room service. At least 90 per cent of the members hold contracts providing this type of service. An increasing number of plans, however, are also offering a ward service contract at a substantially lower subscription cost. Capital Hospital Service is prepared to offer prospective members a choice of ward or semi-private service.

"The monthly subscription rates for semi-private service are 75 cents for one person, $1.25 for a man and wife, and $1.60 for a family. The monthly rates for the holder of a ward service contract are 50 cents for one person, 85 cents for a man and wife, and $1.00 for a family.

Not Operated for Profit
"These low rates are possible because the plan is operated not for profit, having the same status as the hospitals it represents. The members of the board of directors are representative business men who give of their time and effort without any pay whatsoever. There is no capital stock and accordingly no dividends are paid. All employees work on a salary basis with no commissions paid those who solicit subscribers. Only 13 cents of each dollar paid in by the membership is used for the administration of the plan; the balance is always available for hospital care.

"While there has been only one month in the past three years in which expenses, including hospitalization, exceeded income, it is important that there be a substantial reserve fund. Capital Hospital Service had a reserve of $120,000 on October 31, 1941, an amount considered amply sufficient for any unexpected increase in hospital expense caused by an epidemic or disaster.

More Than 50,000 Members
"Like all of the Blue Cross plans, Capital Hospital Service has grown rapidly. Starting with a group of Carlisle public school teachers on March 1, 1938, the membership now exceeds 50,000. Over 6,000 members have been hospitalized under the plan and the hospital bills have already exceeded $305,000. Payments to the hospitals this year alone will amount to about $180,000.

"Capital Hospital Service, like the other community plans, was established primarily for the benefit of employed families of modest means. It is definitely fulfilling this purpose. At the same time it is helping the hospitals. Many patients, who would otherwise require free or part pay service, are having their bills paid by the Blue Cross at a time when Community Chests are finding it increasingly difficult to meet the needs of the hospitals."

Navy Launched Two Destroyers

The 1,630-ton destroyer Aaron Ward (left) slid down the ways at Kearny, N. J., followed a few minutes later by the Buchanan (right) in a twin launch of sister ships of the torpedoed Kearny. The new fighting craft were built at the Navy-operated Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company yards.

"HOW CAN I GET A LOAN?"

What to do to borrow $20 to $300 quickly and simply—How you may repay in convenient monthly installments.

Would a $100 or $200 loan come in handy this month? Have you old bills you would like to clean up with a loan? If you have a job, you may borrow up to $300 at Household Finance in a simple, private transaction. You needn't even come to this office to apply for your loan. Just write or mail the coupon below for complete information. You may repay your loan in monthly installments arranged to fit your own income.

Suppose that you need $100. The table shows that 12 monthly installments of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month will repay a $100 loan in 18 months.

3 ways to borrow

All you do to apply for your Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay. Household Finance loans are made in three ways. 1. On your signature. No security required. These loans are made under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. 2. On your car. This plan may best fit your needs. 3. On your furniture. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Your loan will be made the way which best fits your own situation.

Other points: It is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get your loan quickly and simply.

Get your loan for less Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100 and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge more. We publish our rates and payments to help you shop for your loan.

18 LOSE LIVES BY VIOLENCE IN PENNSYLVANIA

[By the Associated Press]

Death by violence claimed at least 18 lives in Pennsylvania over the week-end.

One man died a hero. He was William Brimmer, 28-year-old greenhouse owner, who was fatally burned beating out flames which enveloped an employee, Andrew Probalsky, 49, whose clothing caught fire while he was starting a fire in a greenhouse boiler.

A three-car collision at Danville killed one member of a hunting party and injured five others. The victim was Michael Palembas, 28.

2 Railroaders Killed

Two Pennsylvania railroad men were killed in western Pennsylvania. Gaythorne E. Price, 30, a brakeman of Portage, fell beneath the wheels of a moving freight train near Galitzin and Carl J. Heinz, 47, was run over by two automobiles at Altoona.

John Martin Buck, two-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buck of Glenside, near Philadelphia, was found suffocated in his crib shortly after his mother put him in for a nap. Four-year-old Jean Heiman was fatally burned in her Pittsburgh home when her clothing caught fire as she brushed against a gas heater.

A porch railing at his home collapsed and tumbled Harry C. Hoffacker, Jr., 10, thirteen feet to his death. He had been talking to an older brother who stood on the ground below.

Falls From Car

Injuries suffered when he fell from the running board of an automobile at a Chester housing project caused the death of John McDonald, 45, of Stroudsburg.

Edgar T. Steiner, 19, died of a skull fracture received in a fall at a dance hall. He had suffered a heart attack. Herman Bertal, 50, who was found unconscious along the highway, died at his Murrsville home. Police said they believed he was stricken with a heart attack while driving his car.

Other Fatalities

Franklin N. Redman, 23, Waynesburg, fatally injured when an automobile in which he was riding struck a bridge. Mrs. Elizabeth Manges, 77, of near Hooversville, Somerset county, died of injuries received in a two-car collision. Fritz Straubel, 50, of Floreffe, Allegheny county, killed in an auto upset in West Elizabeth; Alfred McClaren, 75, killed by a car which failed to stop in Philadelphia; John Youngsavage, 92, resident of Somerset county home, killed by an auto near Somerset; Joseph Sarcevic, 70, killed by a machine near Philadelphia; John Schriener, 55, of Wind Gap, killed by a car in Lansdale.

William Lumkin, 41, died of burns suffered in the explosion of an open hearth furnace at the Franklin Smelting and Refining company, Philadelphia.

Uses Newspapers To Advertise Its Gasoline And Oil

With the arrival of colder weather, Sun Oil Company is making extensive use of newspaper advertising to acquaint motorists with the newest developments in Nu-Blue Sunoco and Sunoco motor oil.

Simultaneously, the company is notifying its dealers of this advertising which focuses attention to the statement that "no gasoline will start cold motors quicker than Nu-Blue Sunoco at regular gas price."

In addition, the company is also pointing out that this winter's Sunoco motor oil has been so fortified that it is now made to "make motors run better longer." This contribution to "longer motor life" has been made to help meet the threatened shortage of new cars due to national defense requirements forcing a fifty per cent reduction in automobile production.

Consistent, large sized newspaper advertising has been a Sun Oil Company policy for years.

TWO EXECUTED AT ROCKVIEW

Bellefonte, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP)—Two murders for robbery cost two men their lives in Pennsylvania's electric chair at Rockview penitentiary early today.

The two convicted slayers, Harold B. Frisbie, 33, Bucks county farmer, and Willie Jones, 26, Pittsburgh negro, died without a word.

Jones, who saw two men walk the last few steps to the chair and had won three respites since he entered the death house June 28, was the first to go.

Strapped to the chair at 12:30 a. m. (EST) he was pronounced dead four minutes later, paying the supreme penalty for the holdup killing of Frank Akerson, meat packing official in McKeesport June 1, 1940.

The son of Frisbie's victim looked on as the young farmer was seated in the chair at 12:37 and declared dead at 12:41. The condemned man glanced deliberately around the small room as he entered but showed no signs that he recognized Fred Lee of Morris, Pa., son of Edward Lee, wealthy lumberman.

No Last Request

Frisbie pleaded guilty to shooting the elder Lee after the lumberman had picked him up on a lonely road in Sullivan county on October 14, 1940. Lee's machine was found at Frisbie's home near Doylestown.

Jones was strangely quiet as he approached the chair in contrast to the lusty hymns he sang when other condemned men died.

The young negro spent his last day reading the Bible and writing numerous letters. As late as dusk he said he was "still hopeful." His mother claimed the body which was sent to Columbus, Ohio, for burial.

Frisbie's body was not claimed and will be buried in the penitentiary grounds today.

Neither of the doomed men had any visitors Sunday and they made no special requests. Both ate the regular prison fare at 4 p. m., instead of a last special meal granted to all condemned prisoners.

FOR YOUR FEAST

Never have we Americans been able to recall with more profound gratitude the origin—and the reason for—our observance of Thanksgiving! This Thanksgiving Day, 1941, is an occasion for us to rededicate ourselves to all those ideals which the Pilgrim forefathers came to these shores in search of, and made our most precious heritage. Today, once again, we give thanks for the way of life that is American—the free and democratic way!

be centered around Sidi Rezegh where German forces apparently had failed to break out of the pocket in which the British quickly sealed them last week near Tobruk, 80 miles west of the Egyptian frontier.

A second force was said to be hemmed in in the Salum-Halfaya area near the border between Libya and Egypt.

Indian and New Zealand troops were reported to have thrown a great ring around this force which still held strong positions. The occupation of Bardia was said to have blocked its exit and cut off a pipeline which was Salum's only source of water.

Bardia Abandoned

Bardia was found to have been abandoned when the British entered it for the second time in this war. It fell to them last January 5, but the Germans retook it in April.

Pocket number three, the British said, was between Gambut and the coast, in the area about 37 miles east of Tobruk and 55 miles northwest of Bardia.

The fourth pocket, an Italian force shoved westward when Britain's main armored columns plunged through toward Tobruk, was reported in the vicinity of Bir El Gobi, 40 miles south of Tobruk.

Except for that mauled but still resisting Fascist tank outfit, the British appeared to have been bent out of the battle, the British said.

THE PHONE BOOTH MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

YESTERDAY: Asey Mayo, the Cape Cod detective, was only delivering clams when he ventured into the Whale Inn. He found it deserted, lighted with candles because a storm had put out the lights, and what is more important, he found a corpse sitting on a chair in the phone booth. And now, just after verifying the fact that the corpse is still in the booth, he is accosted by the very self-possessed daughter of the proprietor.

Chapter Six

Through the Keyhole

Asey chuckled. "I must," he said, "look pretty much of a tramp."

The girl didn't deny it. "But," Asey continued, "my appearance is deceiving. I've done some trampin' this evening, only I ain't one. Miss Doane, how long have you been in this room?"

"Since three this afternoon," the girl said tranquilly. "And now, I'm sure you're in a hurry to get to the Commercial."

"You mean," Asey said, "you been in this room since three this afternoon? All the time?"

"Yes," the girl said firmly. "Asey's eyes narrowed.

"And if you'll be good enough to come to the door," the girl continued, "I'll point out the direction of the Commercial House."

Asey leaned back his head and opened his mouth wide.

"Jennie! Ahoy, Jen-nie!"

The girl jumped as his quarter-deck bellow roared out.

"Jennie!" Asey took another breath. "Jen-nie!"

"Look here," the girl said sharply, "you've got to stop that din! I can assure you that there is no one named Jennie here!"

"Asey! A-sey!"

"Who's that?" the girl demanded. "That," Asey said, "is Jennie. Ahoy, Jennie, where are you?"

"Upstairs! Come up here, Asey! I got her, right here!"

The girl ducked down, opened the low-swinging cupboard doors, squeezed herself through them, and ran over to the staircase in front of Asey.

"Absolutely, you can't go up—" "Aside, youngster," Asey said, and took the stairs three at a time.

He found Jennie on her knees with her eyes focused on the keyhole of a room down the corridor to his right.

"What's goin' on, Jennie? What're you glued to that keyhole for? Who's in there?"

Jennie put her finger to her lips. "Shhh!" she said. "She's in this bedroom! Right in here! Shhh!"

"What's the use of shushin'?" Asey wanted to know. "Between your yells an' mine, I guess somebody knows we're in this general vicinity! Jennie, who's in there? What you been doin'?"

"Look!" Jennie got to her feet and held out something she'd picked up from the floor beside her. "Look!"

Asey took the white-sheered leather pocketbook from her and glanced at the initials.

"O.E.B. This's the one from the phone booth?"

"Listen," Miss Doane had been desperately trying to get a word in edgewise. "Listen, will the two of you simply stop this and—"

"Oh," Asey said. "I forgot you. Go downstairs, will you, an' phone Hanson of the state police, an' Doc Cummings, the medical examiner, over in Wellfleet. Tell 'em Asey Mayo wants 'em at the Whale Inn, right away. Hurry, will you? Now, Jennie, what'd you take this from the phone booth for?"

"I never did, Asey! I took it from her!" she pointed toward the door at whose keyhole she had been watching.

Miss Doane broke in before Asey had a chance to speak.

The Pocketbook

"You don't look like Asey Mayo!" she said. "I've seen innumerable pictures of him. He wears a yachting cap, and a duck coat with lots of little pockets, and he carries a gun. And, besides, he's in Washington right this minute! I saw a picture of him in the paper this morning, shaking hands with people who make engines or something!"

"I'm back," Asey informed her, "an' these are my city clothes. Now, hustle with those calls, will you?"

"Well, all right," But she still looked skeptical as she turned and walked back along the hall to the stairs.

"Now, Jennie," Asey went on, "let me get this straightened out. What's the story on this pocketbook, anyway?"

"I tell you, I took it from the woman that's in the bed room in there! I didn't take it from the phone booth woman!"

"Let's start at the beginnin'," he said.

"The minute you left," Jennie said, "I somehow begun to feel awful scared an' trembly. All alone there with those candles flickerin', an' her in that booth! Why, for a minute or two, I just shook! An' then I shut the closet door, an' then I begun to feel a little better. An' then—in she come!"

"Who?" Asey demanded. "This Doane girl that was just here?"

"No, no, no! The woman at the red lights! The one with the umbrella! The one—"

"Look, Jennie," Asey said soothingly, "I don't blame you for bein' confused. I tell you what I'll do. I'll phone Sam over at the garage an' have him drive my roadster here an' take you home. You need to lie down. You had a hard day even before you got to this place, an' what's happened since hasn't made it any easier. I'm not a bit surprised you seen a ghost! Come on downstairs, an' I'll call Sam."

It was not until he took hold of Jennie's arm that Asey realized his error. The sudden gleam in Jennie's eyes was not gratitude for his consideration, but sheer, unadulterated anger.

"You think I'm a fool, Asey Mayo? You think I don't know what I see? You think I don't know what I'm talkin' about? I tell you, it was that woman, an' it wasn't no ghost!"

"You mean, she recognized you, an' spoke to you?" Asey asked.

Jennie shook her head.

"She walked straight past me, Asey! Never said a word. I don't think she knew I was there! Straight past me, an' across that livin' room, an' up the stairs!"

"What did you do?" Asey demanded. "Did you speak to her, or put out your hand an' touch her? What did you say?"

"I was so flabbergasted," Jennie said, "I didn't do a thing but gape, an' I think my eyes nearly popped out of my head, Asey. They ain't felt right since. Why there one minute I'd closed the door of that booth, an' the next minute there she was, comin' in the front door, an' walkin' past me! I thought it was a ghost, first. But that woman was just as real as could be."

"Honest, Jennie, d'you—"

"I kept thinkin' of things to say,"

said patiently. "Somebody knocks over a bucket of clams, an' I rush out into the rain. What did you do then?"

"The minute you left," Jennie said, "I somehow begun to feel awful scared an' trembly. All alone there with those candles flickerin', an' her in that booth! Why, for a minute or two, I just shook! An' then I shut the closet door, an' then I begun to feel a little better. An' then—in she come!"

DECLARES WAR

IS "OUR FIGHT"

London, Nov. 24 (AP)—Britain's war with Germany is "our fight," W. Averell Harriman, U. S. war aid expediter, told Britons last night and declared "our Navy is shooting Germans—German submarines and aircraft at sea."

Harriman, who returned last week from Washington conferences with President Roosevelt, said in a radio address that the President "understands clearly the interdependency of American destiny with that of the British."

"He hates Hitler and all he stands for with the same burning hatred as does Winston Churchill," the war aid chief said.

But despite all that the British and Americans have in common, he declared, "there is still much to be mutually learned if suspicions are to be set aside and we are to work together."

Harriman said modifications of the American neutrality law and the Lend-Lease act were intended to "keep us out of war" but that now those words "have come to have a new meaning."

be centered around Sidi Rezegh where German forces apparently had failed to break out of the pocket in which the British quickly sealed them last week near Tobruk, 80 miles west of the Egyptian frontier.

A second force was said to be hemmed in in the Salum-Halfaya area near the border between Libya and Egypt.

Indian and New Zealand troops were reported to have thrown a great ring around this force which still held strong positions. The occupation of Bardia was said to have blocked its exit and cut off a pipeline which was Salum's only source of water.

Bardia Abandoned

Bardia was found to have been abandoned when the British entered it for the second time in this war. It fell to them last January 5 but the Germans retook it in April.

Pocket number three, the British said, was between Gambut and the coast, in the area about 37 miles east of Tobruk and 55 miles northwest of Bardia.

The fourth pocket, an Italian force shoved westward when Britain's main armored columns plunged through toward Tobruk, was reported in the vicinity of Bir El Gobi, 40 miles south of Tobruk.

Except for that mauled but still resisting Fascist tank outfit, the Italians appeared to have been put out of the battle, the British said.

THE PHONE BOOTH MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

YESTERDAY: Asey Mayo, the Cape Cod detective, was only delivering clams when he ventured into the Whale Inn. He found it deserted, lighted with candles because a storm had put out the lights, and what is more important, he found a corpse sitting on a chair in the phone booth. And now, just after verifying the fact that the corpse is still in the booth, he is accosted by the very self-possessed daughter of the proprietor.

Chapter Six

Through the Keyhole

Asey chuckled. "I must," he said, "look pretty much of a tramp."

The girl didn't deny it.

"But," Asey continued, "my appearance is deceiving. I've done some trampin' this evening, only I ain't one. Miss Doane, how long have you been in this room?"

"Since three this afternoon," the girl said tranquilly. "And now, I'm sure you're in a hurry to get to the Commercial—"

"You mean," Asey said, "you been in this room since three this afternoon? All the time?"

"Yes," the girl said firmly.

Asey's eyes narrowed.

"And if you'll be good enough to come to the door," the girl continued, "I'll point out the direction of the Commercial House."

Asey leaned back his head and opened his mouth wide.

"Jennie! Ahoy, Jen-nie!"

The girl jumped as his quarter-deck bellow roared out.

"Jennie!" Asey took another breath. "Jen-nie!"

"Asey! A-sey!" the girl demanded.

"Who's that?" the girl demanded.

"That," Asey said, "is Jennie. Ahoy, Jennie, where are you?"

"Upstairs! Come up here, Asey! I got her, right here!"

The girl ducked down, opened the low-swinging cupboard doors, squeezed herself through them, and ran over to the staircase in front of Asey.

"Absolutely, you can't go up—"

"Aside, youngster," Asey said, and took the stairs three at a time.

He found Jennie on her knees with her eyes focused on the keyhole of a room down the corridor to his right.

"What's goin' on, Jennie? What're you glued to that keyhole for? Who's in there?"

Jennie put her finger to her lips. "Shhh!" she said. "She's in this bedroom! Right in here! Shhh!"

"What's the use of shushin'?" Asey wanted to know. "Between you yells an' mine, I guess somebody knows we're in this general vicinity! Jennie, who's in there? What you been doin'?"

"Look!" Jennie got to her feet and held out something she'd picked up from the floor beside her. "Look!"

Asey took the white-stitched leather pocketbook from her and glanced at the initials.

"O.E.B. This's the one from the phone booth?"

"Listen," Miss Doane had been desperately trying to get a word in edgewise. "Listen, will the two of you simply stop this and—"

"Oh," Asey said. "I forgot you. Go downstairs, will you, an' phone Henson of the state police, an' Doc Cummings, the medical examiner, over in Wellfleet. Tell 'em Asey Mayo wants 'em at the Whale Inn right away. Hurry, will you? Now, Jennie, what'd you take this from the phone booth for?"

"I never did, Asey! I took it from her!" she pointed toward the door at whose keyhole she had been watching.

The Pocketbook

"You don't look like Asey Mayo!" she said. "I've seen innumerable pictures of him. He wears a yachting cap, and a duck coat with lots of little pockets, and he carries a gun. And, besides, he's in Washington right this minute! I saw a picture of him in the paper this morning, shaking hands with people who make engines or something!"

"I'm back," Asey informed her, "an' these are my city clothes. Now, hustle with those calls, with you?"

"Well, all right." But she still looked skeptical as she turned and walked back along the hall to the stairs.

"Now, Jennie," Asey went on, "let me get this straightened out. What's the story on this pocketbook, anyway?"

"Let's start at the beginnin'," he said patiently. "Somebody knocks over a bucket of clams, an' I rush out into the rain. What did you do then?"

"The minute you left," Jennie said, "I somehow begun to feel awful scared an' trembly. All alone there with those candles flickerin', an' her in that booth! Why, for a minute or two, I just shook! An' then I shut the closet door, an' then I begun to feel a little better. An' then—in she come!"

"Who?" Asey demanded. "This Doane girl that was just here?"

"No, no, no! The woman at the red lights! The one with the umbrella! The one—"

"Look, Jennie," Asey said soothingly, "I don't blame you for bein' confused. I tell you what I'll do. I'll phone Sam over at the garage an' have him drive my roadster here an' take you home. You need to lie down. You had a hard day even before you got to this place, an' what's happened since hasn't made it any easier. I'm not a bit surprised you seen a ghost! Come on downstairs, an' I'll call Sam."

It was not until he took hold of Jennie's arm that Asey realized his error. The sudden gleam in Jennie's eyes was not gratitude for his consideration, but sheer, unadulterated anger.

"You think I'm a fool, Asey Mayo? You think I don't know what I seen? You think I don't know what I'm talkin' about? I tell you, it was that woman, an' it wasn't no ghost!"

"You mean, she recognized you, an' spoke to you?" Asey asked.

Jennie shook her head.

"She walked straight past me, Asey! Never said a word! I don't think she knew I was there! Straight past me, an' across that livin' room, an' up the stairs!"

"What did you do?" Asey demanded. "Did you speak to her, or put your hand an' touch her? What did you say?"

"I was so flabbergasted," Jennie said, "I didn't go a thing but gape, an' I think my eyes nearly popped out of my head, Asey. They ain't felt right since. Why there one minute I'd closed the door of that booth, an' the next minute there she was, comin' in the front door an' walkin' past me! I thought it was a ghost, first. But that woman was just as real as could be."

"Honest, Jennie, d'you—"

"I kept thinkin' of things to say,"

Jennie went on. "Only they all stuck in my throat. She was halfway up the stairs before I could loosen my tongue an' find my voice. Then I let out a scream. A good loud scream. It even scared me! Scared her, too. She went up the rest of the stairs like a streak of greased lightning. Then I come to an' rushed up the stairs after her. An' right on the stairs was this pocketbook here. I guess that proves she was real, don't it? Ghosts don't carry pocketbooks."

"An' She Dripped!"

Asey restrained himself from remarking that ghosts had been known to carry far stranger objects than ladies' handbags.

"Huh," he said. "Then you didn't actually take this bag from her, did you, Jennie? You just found it on the stairs."

"Same thing!" Jennie retorted. "She dropped it when I let out that scream! Don't you look so doubtful, Asey. She had on that felt hat an' that tweed coat. I tell you, it was her."

Asey frowned, and played with the clasp on the pocketbook.

"An' you saw her go into this room?" he asked, as he casually opened the pocketbook and peered inside. "Where is she now?"

"Oh, I didn't see her go in, because she reached the top of the stairs before I ever got started," Jennie said. "But I know she's in this room. This is the way she ran."

"I seen in every room on this floor that's unlocked, an' I listened outside every room that's locked, an' this is where she is. I heard a rustlin' sound. Twice."

"There's nothin' in this pocketbook," Asey said. "It's empty. Tell me, just where did you find it?"

"On the curve of the stairs, to one side, just where she dropped it when I yelled," Jennie told him.

"An' I wish you'd stop askin' a lot of fool questions an' either tell her to come out, or break that door in. I knocked an' banged, but she didn't pay a speck of attention!"

Asey reached out and rapped his knuckles against the door.

"A self-respectin' flea," Jennie said with scorn, "wouldn't hear that knockin'." An' if it did, it wouldn't pay any attention to it! Tell her to come out here!"

"Will the occupant of Room Five," Asey said, "be good enough to open the door?"

Nothing happened.

Asey repeated his request, and then he drew a long breath.

"Honest, Jennie, don't you think that maybe perhaps it was just possibly an imaginary woman, sort of a picture in your mind?"

"I do not! She dropped that pocketbook!"

"Maybe. But someone might've been goin' out in a hurry, an' shifted things from one pocketbook to another—I've known you to do that, Jennie—an' left the empty bag on the stairs."

"I tell you, she dropped it! An' she dripped!"

"She was?"

"She dripped rain. She was wet."

"Let me tell you what I think," Asey said, "an' don't interrupt me till I get through. I think

15 LISTED FOR GOVERNORSHIP

By TOM REEDY

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—The 1942 political campaign jumped off to an early start today with the promises of U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey to disclose the names of "15 candidates" for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the open declaration of Ivan C. Watkins, Schuylkill county representative, that he is a Republican candidate.

Guffey's promise was made as part of his plan to convince other party leaders that there should be an open primary.

Watkins, a World War veteran and wholesale tobacco dealer, was the first avowed candidate for the chief executive's job. The representative advanced himself as "one who feels conscientiously he will be in a position to unite the entire party, as I have never had any grievances with any group or faction."

Guffey said he intended to make known this week those who have been advanced in conferences for the nomination.

Reported Candidates

Associates of the senator said the list includes:

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, ambassador-at-large for the exiled governments of the conquered low countries; William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France; George H. Earle, governor from 1935 to 1939 and now U. S. minister to Bulgaria; Guy K. Bard, Federal Judge and former Attorney General F. Clair Ross, auditor general.

Guffey has indicated no public preference. He also has brushed aside reports he sought to be a candidate himself.

Instead, the senator has recently come into the open with what he had been preaching privately to associates—the state committee should abandon its practice of endorsing candidates and allow an open primary.

New Hampshire has 18 miles of seacoast on the Atlantic.

181 U.S. Soldiers Tour Battlefield

The officers' candidate class from Carlisle barracks toured the Gettysburg battlefield on Saturday. Included in the group of 181 soldiers was Staff Sergeant John W. Caskey, South Washington street.

The non-commissioned officers, who reside in 40 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, are taking a three-month course at Carlisle Barracks. If they pass they are commissioned as second lieutenants in the medical corps.

The infantry liaison officer, Lieut.-Col. R. B. Reynolds, and the unit commander, Capt. F. W. Gove, accompanied the Carlisle group over the battlefield.

JAPAN SENDS NEW ORDERS

Tokyo, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office has sent a new communication to its mission negotiating with the United States government in Washington, and a new development is expected "very shortly," Dornel, the authoritative Japanese news agency said tonight.

There was no immediate indication as to the nature of the communication, and Dornel warned that optimism was not warranted.

It was understood that the foreign office regarded its message to the Japanese delegates as urgent.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi, in a Berlin dispatch, said that while Japan would participate in the anti-Comintern conference opening in the German capital today, this would not violate the Russian-Japanese neutrality pact, since the anti-Comintern agreement is aimed at the Third International, and not at the Soviet Union.

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo opened a conference of prefectural governors tonight with an urgent appeal for national unity in the face of obstacles and difficulties which he said lay ahead of Japan.

The Premier urged the 46 governors attending to win the coopera-

Prowler Frightened By Singer's Scream

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—A levelled pistol didn't disturb a rooftop prowler early today but the voice of singer Eleanor Kade quickly put him to flight.

Miss Kade and her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Kade, heard the prowler on the sun deck of the Hotel King, which Mrs. Kade manages. The mother pointed the pistol, but the prowler lunged and grabbed her before it could be used. The daughter screamed. The prowler fled.

"I've a most unusual voice," 20-year-old Miss Kade told police later. "I'm the only singer in the city with a 34-note range, and I screamed all 34 notes."

Weather Bureau Hires Lone Girl

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—Philadelphia's weather bureau acquired a feminine touch today for the first time since 1917.

Miss Anne Koller began work as a clerk and typist, the only woman employee in the office. During the last war one girl worked part time.

Said Henry Adams the weather man: "The defense emergency has caused a shortage in male labor, which is one reason why we hired a girl."

By TOM REEDY

Harrisburg, Nov. 24 (AP)—The 1942 political campaign jumped off to an early start today with the promises of U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey to disclose the names of "15 candidates" for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the open declaration of Ivan C. Watkins, Schuylkill county representative, that he is a Republican candidate.

Guffey's promise was made as part of his plan to convince other party leaders that there should be an open primary.

Watkins, a World War veteran and wholesale tobacco dealer, was the first avowed candidate for the chief executive's job. The representative advanced himself as "one who feels conscientiously he will be in a position to unite the entire party, as I have never had any grievances with any group or faction."

Reported Candidates

Associates of the senator said the list includes:

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, ambassador-at-large for the exiled governments of the conquered low countries; William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France; George H. Earle, governor from 1935 to 1939 and now U. S. minister to Bulgaria; Guy K. Bard, Federal Judge and former Attorney General F. Clair Ross, auditor general.

Guffey has indicated no public preference. He also has brushed aside reports he sought to be a candidate himself.

Instead, the senator has recently come into the open with what he had been preaching privately to associates—the state committee should abandon its practice of endorsing candidates and allow an open primary.

New Hampshire has 18 miles of seacoast on the Atlantic.

181 U.S. Soldiers Tour Battlefield

The officers' candidate class from Carlisle barracks toured the Gettysburg battlefield on Saturday. Included in the group of 181 soldiers was Staff Sergeant John W. Caskey, South Washington street.

The non-commissioned officers, who reside in 40 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, are taking a three-month course at Carlisle Barracks. If they pass they are commissioned as second lieutenants in the medical corps.

The infantry liaison officer, Lieut.-Col. R. B. Reynolds, and the unit commander, Capt. F. W. Gove, accompanied the Carlisle group over the battlefield.

JAPAN SENDS NEW ORDERS

Tokyo, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office has sent a new communication to its mission negotiating with the United States government in Washington, and a new development is expected "very shortly," Domei, the authoritative Japanese news agency said tonight.

There was no immediate indication as to the nature of the communication, and Domei warned that optimism was not warranted.

It was understood that the foreign office regarded its message to the Japanese delegates as urgent.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi, in a Berlin dispatch, said that while Japan would participate in the anti-Comintern conference opening in the German capital today, this would not violate the Russian-Japanese neutrality pact, since the anti-Comintern agreement is aimed at the Third International, and not at the Soviet Union.

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo opened a conference of prefectural governors tonight with an urgent appeal for national unity in the face of obstacles and difficulties which he said lay ahead of Japan.

The Premier urged the 46 governors attending to win the coopera-

Prowler Frightened By Singer's Scream

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—A levelled pistol didn't disturb a rooftop prowler early today but the voice of singer Eleanor Kade quickly put him to flight.

Miss Kade and her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Kade, heard the prowler on the sun deck of the Hotel King, which Mrs. Kade manages. The mother pointed the pistol, but the prowler lunged and grabbed her before it could be used. The daughter screamed. The prowler fled.

"I've a most unusual voice," 20-year-old Miss Kade told police later. "I'm the only singer in the city with a 34-note range, and I screamed all 34 notes."

HANOVER CONCERTS

J. Herbert Springer, organist and director of music at St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Hanover, announces that, for the eleventh successive year, he will present a series of organ recitals at 3 o'clock every Sunday during Advent. For the first program on November 30, the soloist will be R. Henry Ackley, baritone, choir-director of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover. On December 7, Marie Budde, soprano, will sing for an all-Bach program. Elizabeth Shirk Rodgers, contralto, will be the soloist on December 14, and Margaret Troutwine, soprano soloist at Zion Lutheran church, York, will sing for a Christmas program on December 21.

Weather Bureau Hires Lone Girl

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—Philadelphia's weather bureau acquired a feminine touch today for the first time since 1917.

Miss Anne Koller began work as a clerk and typist, the only woman employee in the office. During the last war one girl worked part time.

Said Henry Adams, the weather man:

"The defense emergency has caused a shortage in male labor, which is one reason why we hired a girl."
